HICKEY HAS MADE CONFESSION

Admits to District Attorney He Killed Joseph Josephs and Also New York Newsboy

BUFFALO, Nov. 29.—J. Frank Hickey, today confessed to the murder of Joseph Josephs, the seven-year-old Lackawanna boy, and Michael Ruck, the New York newsboy.

The confession was made to District Attorney Wesley Dudley. It was be-

MRS. ROUNDS GETS $1000 ALIMONY

A Number of Divorce Cases
Were Heard by Judge
Pratt Today

Judge Nathan D. Pratt, presiding at the divorce session of the superior court, this morning decreed that William H. Rounds, local photographer, pay alimony in the sum of $1000 to his wife, Pansy R. Rounds of Chelmsford.

Mr. and Mrs. Rounds were married on Oct. 10, 1905, and Mrs. Rounds alleged that her husband deserted her in March, 1908.

She brought suit and on Nov. 20th a decree nisi was entered in favor of the petitioner and she was also given the custody of her minor child.

The matter of alimony was left to Melvin G. Rogers, counsel for the defendant, and Francis W. Quinn, counsel for the libellant, and they agreed on the sum of $1000 gross alimony.

Mrs. Hilda E. Hoglund evidently married the wrong member of the Hoglund family when she wedded to Karl E. for shortly after the marriage she appeared to be more affectionate to his brother, John E., and later, it is said, went to live with the brother, who was named as correspondent in the divorce case heard this morning.

The couple was married in Stockholm, Sweden on June 2, 1901, and subsequently resided in Boston and Cambridge. A decree nisi was granted and the libellant was given the custody of his minor children.

Garfield Clarke of Saxtonville was united in marriage to Iola Clark, otherwise known as "Lola Perry" at Sumner, Me., on December 12, 1901, but after living together for a short time she deserted him. A decree nisi was granted.

Mrs. Ira M. Nourse of Stoneham, testified that during her married life her husband, Morton E. Nourse, was cruel and abusive to her and she desired to be separated from him. The court after hearing the testimony granted a decree nisi, gave the libellant the custody of her minor child and ordered that the libellee pay her the sum of $6 each week.

A decree nisi, and custody of her minor children, was granted to Mrs. Gertrude M. Springer of Somerville, who was married to Philip M. Springer on Nov. 10, 1908.

A decree nisi was also granted in the case of Cecelia Bianchi Leacock, colored, of Cambridge, from Joseph gun on the train that rushed Hickey, Dudley and Police Chief Ray R. Gilson from New York to Buffalo last Wednesday and was completed this morning. The whole horrible story has been reduced to a formal statement and has been signed by Hickey.

ENTRENCHED POSITIONS NEAR TOWN OF SEMENDRIA OCCUPIED

Greek Squadron Occupies a Turkish
Island—The Austro-Hungarian
Reservists Called Home

VIENNA, Nov. 29.—The assertion that Serbia is mobilizing against Austria-Hungary is made today by the Reichspost. The entrenched positions near the town of Semendria on the Danube have been occupied already by Serbian troops of the Danube division. The Serbian recruits belonging to the contingents due to be called up in 1914 and 1915 have been called up by the Serbian war office and Christian prisoners among the Turkish troops captured are being induced to serve in the Serbian army.

The weapons captured from the Turks are being hurriedly repaired in the great Serbian arsenal at Aradguyevitz, and ammunition is being manufactured in large quantities. Cattle and cereals are being requisitioned by the Serbian war office and taken to Niche, which the Reichspost says will be formed into a Serbian Tchatalja or last line of defense. The garrison of the entrenched camp is being rapidly raised to 120,000.

The recent visits exchanged between Count von Berchtold, the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister and the Egyptian prince, Ahmed Fuad, who is an Albanian by descent are regarded by the Zeitungs as indications that the prince is a serious candidate for the Albanian throne.

AUSTRO-HUNGARIAN RESERVISTS ORDERED TO RETURN TO THEIR HOMES

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 29.—The Austro-Hungarian reservists residing in the Baltic provinces have been summoned to return to their homes in Austria and Hungary, according to a dispatch from Riga to the Reich. The German reservists living in those provinces number 8000, and those also have been warned to hold themselves in readiness to be called up to join their regiments at any moment.

The Austrian and German consulates at Riga are guarded by strong forces of police.

An attempt was made by a body of students to organize a demonstration outside of Austria-Hungary's embassy in St. Petersburg, but was frustrated by the authorities.

An enthusiastic scene was witnessed last evening in the Imperial Marinsky theatre during a performance given in behalf of the Serbians and Bulgarians at which most of the Russian ministers, including the premier, were present.

When the national anthems of Bulgaria and Serbia were played by the orchestra the audience rose and cheered to the echo.

WESTERN GREEK SQUADRON HAS OCCUPIED THE TURKISH ISLAND OF SASSENOI

LONDON, Nov. 29.—The western Greek squadron today occupied the Turkish island of Sasseno, in the Adriatic sea near Avalona, according to despatch from Athens today.

THE SERBIAN TROOPS CAPTURED THE TOWN OF DIBRA IN ALBANIA

BELGRADE, Serbia, Nov. 29.—The Serbian troops captured the town of Dibra in Albania only after a desperate encounter with the Turkish troops who had rallied there after their retreat from Monastir and had been joined by contingents of Mallesori and Arbanat tribesmen.

With the capture of Dibra the whole of Macedonia has been subdued.

JUMPED TO HIS DEATH

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Three waiters sleeping in the fourth story of the Hotelworkers' union building on West 31st street had to jump for their lives early today when they were awakened by fire. Two of them landed safely on the fire escape, a story below, but the third overbalanced the iron gallery, pitched the whole four stories to the ground and was killed. The fire did comparatively slight damage.

SOLD DEER FOR TEN DOLLARS

But the Sale Netted the Court
$20 When Huntsman Was
Fined This Morning

The police court treasury was just $58 richer at the conclusion of the police court session this morning. This amount was made up by three $23 fines, together with a contribution of $5 and another of $2. There were present several who had indulged in too enthusiastic a celebration of the Thanksgiving holiday and the law placed the finishing touch upon their festivities.

Dear Hunting For Deer

Warren D. Caldwell of Tewksbury is apparently a huntsman. One deer, it was said, fell a victim to his skill with a gun a few days ago. Warren is also a special officer or constable in the town and up to this morning has always given himself credit for a pretty fair knowledge of the law. However, every one, even constables and special officers are liable to make mistakes and that is exactly what happened to the gentleman in question when, as the charge read, he sold the deer to a Mr. Kingsbury.

Mr. Caldwell was alleged to have violated the law which prohibits the selling of deer shot in Massachusetts and he nodded assent to the charge. Deputy Fish and Game Warden Walter Larkin, who figured strongly in bringing the man to justice was placed upon the stand and testified that he had some conversation a few days ago in regard to the killing of the deer. "He pulled aside his coat," said the witness, "and showed me a constable's badge pinned on his vest. I said I did not care if he had them pinned all over him, the law was just the same."

George W. Phipps, another fish and game officer seconded the other's testimony. The deer, he said, had been sold for ten dollars. The prisoner had a copy of the laws which he stated had been given to him when he received his license and he seemed inclined to think that a trap had been set for him, both from the fact that he said that there was no mention made on this copy of the laws, regarding the selling of deer, and again because according to his testimony, the men and game officers had told him that if he had shipped the deer to Boston, he would have received a check for $30 or $35. That, said Mr. Caldwell, looked as if they were trying to catch him by unfair means.

The judge imposed a fine of $20 which Mr. Caldwell paid.

Very Troublesome Youths

A charge of obstructing the streets was read against two young boys, Frank Boyle and Thomas Allen and both pleaded not guilty.

Officer Bazley testified that the youngsters were "hanging around" the corner of Adams and Cross streets on Saturday night last and furthermore that they caused great deal of annoyance to passersby. Several women, so the officer said, were forced to walk out in the road to avoid the loiterers.

John's List Grows

A man named John J. Devine, otherwise familiarly known as "Shorty" was in court this morning for what was said to be his 57th time. John made a little speech on the stand or rather started to and was interrupted by the court. He was sentenced to the state farm and that was suspended with the understanding that he change his present abode which the judge said was not a good place for him to be.

They Offer Up Two Freely

William F. Cogan paid $5 for a second offense of drunkenness. Michael Sayers, who was surrendered by the probation officer, was sentenced to the state farm. There was one two dollar assessment.

FOGEL WHO RESIGNED

As Head of the Philadelphia Club

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Horace S. Fogel, who has been a storm center in the National League for several weeks, has resigned as president of the Philadelphia baseball club. Charges had been made against him before the national commission on the ground that he had attacked the honesty of umpires, to the detriment of the interests of organized ball.

HELD UNION SERVICES

Big Meeting at the Centerville M.E. Church

Union services attended by members of the Methodist Episcopal, Primitive Methodist and First Presbyterian churches were held at the Centerville M.E. church yesterday morning. Rev. James M. Craig, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, was the preacher. He took his text from the 33rd Psalm, "Lifted is the nation whose God is Jehovah." In part, he said:

"No nation ever faced such opportunities or responsibilities as face this nation today. The purpose of God seems to have been to place this nation in its present place and to make it a God's place will be because of the people of the people. 'Like causes produce like results.' If Rome, Greece and Babylonian perished, cannot the same result follow here? False fundamental principles have swept away nations in the past. This country needs more than schools, colleges and universities. Arts and sciences have not saved nations of the past. We need to solve in this mighty nation of ours the problem of establishing a Christian civilization. We must have not only the eternal principles of morality. We need to recognize in our lives the life and principles of Jesus Christ. It is commanded to us to become the greatest nation of the globe. To fulfil this command we must establish the conviction that there is a God and that it is only when we honor God and make His law our guide that we will make a nation that shall never perish."

MANY LOWELL TEACHERS

Attend Meeting of Mass. Teachers' Association

The 68th annual meeting of the Massachusetts Teachers' Association was held in Huntington hall in Boston today and a large delegation of Lowell teachers was present. The morning session was opened by Dr. George H. Lewis of Hingham, who read the announcements of future events. "The Larger View of the Meaning of Education" was the subject of a five address given by Franklin D. Lyon, superintendent of the Boston schools. President David C. Luther of Trinity college, Hartford, delivered "The Early Mark of the Teacher's Ideal Standard," the state commissioner of education gave a talk on "Teacher's Association." Following the lectures the business of the meeting was taken up and reports were read by the secretary and treasurer and the chairman of the different committees. The afternoon session commenced at 2 o'clock and Principal Wm. McAndrew of New York city gave a very interesting lecture on "The Increasing Value of the Teaching Service." Prof. H. H. Home of New York University spoke on "Teacher's Health." Dr. Charles M. Elliot, the president emeritus of Harvard university, was the principal lecturer of the day. His subject was "The Tendency to the Concrete and Practical in Modern Education." This address closed the program of the convention.

EDITOR GROWS VIOLENT IN SPEECH

Tells Workers Not to Give Thanks

But Send Curses to Heaven—
Capitalists Denounced

LAWRENCE, Nov. 29.—The members of the I. W. W. met on the Dime at 2.30 o'clock. About 1000 were assembled when Editor arrived. Standing on an old wagon which had been drawn down onto the lot he threw off his hat and walking back and forth, gestulating freely, talked for almost 1 1/2 hours. The crowd about him was constantly augmented. The windows of the tenement houses facing on the lot were filled with faces. Despite the severe cold scarcely a person left until he ended his discourse. When he had finished bouquets were showered upon him and one Italian mother pressed forward and stretching forth her arms, handed him a week-old baby, asking him to kiss it.

"I'm going to call it Editor," she said to him.

"Today, in the city of Lawrence, thanks are being given to the Lord on high. But the real thanks should be given to the Lord of industry, to the humble laborers, who, by their energy, their labor, their very blood, make what there is to be thankful for."

"Today, in this city, the politicians, the ex-convicts, the pillars of the law, the pillars of society, and the pillars of order are going to meet to give thanks. Not to those to whom thanks is due, though; not to the workers who make the wheels of industry run; those men will not assemble to give thanks to the Lord of industry. And a justice of the supreme court has lined himself up with the band of so-called patriots.

"Let me ask you a question: $6 a week slaves, $7 a week slaves, what thanks have you to offer, to present, today? We have not thanks, only curses, and we will shout out our curses until they reach the heavens. We have no thanks."

"The workers have sacrificed $5.00 victims—that many lives have been burned out in the mills, shattered and broken in the factories—to lubricate the wheels which grind out more wealth for the idle at the expense of the working class. When the workers protest they are clubbed, bayoneted and jailed that their blood may be used as a balm to assuage and heal the wounds of a master class."

"One class knows no happiness. One class revels and wallows in it. And a supreme court justice joins in company with Mickey Scanlon, ex-bankrupt and so-called preacher, to give thanks that children of God produce everything for the capitalist class, which too lazy to wash its own face. The children of children from the schools give thanks to the Lord."

"But the dream of labor will come true. And we will not need shotguns. We will just have to stop working and the capitalist class will freeze and starve to death. We are the life and the mainspring of the world. When we labor the world goes round. When we stop the world stops."

"The button of the laboring class will be as the cross, an emblem of the oppressed. The button will show the adherents of the proletarian class. And the dream of today is the religion of the next day."

Sufferers From Hemorrhoids Greatly Pleased

SCIENTIFIC YET SIMPLE HOME TREATMENT THAT GIVES IMMEDIATE RELIEF AND SUBSEQUENTLY CONQUERS THIS PAINFUL DISEASE

The world moves forward. Today the greatest physicians realize that hemorrhoids or piles must be treated both internally and externally in order to subdue them.

Physicians in Lowell and vicinity are attracted by the completeness of what is known as the ENGLISH HEMORRHOID TREATMENT and they do not hesitate to keep a supply on hand for the benefit of sufferers of hemorrhoids. They know there will be a constant demand.

Physicians as well as Druggists will willingly recommend the ENGLISH HEMORRHOID TREATMENT, because they know from the formula printed on each box that it is a treatment of great merit.

The ENGLISH HEMORRHOID TREATMENT, the formula of a New York Physician, consists of a supply of soothing, healing suppositories, a box of sanative ointment; a box of constitutional tablets, which quickly put the system in proper condition to respond to the internal and external application; a diet sheet; rules of health, and complete and simple instructions that anyone can easily understand. Separate boxes of each remedy may be obtained as wanted, at 50 cents each.

A pamphlet which explains all about Hemorrhoids can be obtained at druggists or direct from the ENGLISH PHARMACAL LABORATORIES, INC., No. 1631 Broadway, New York.

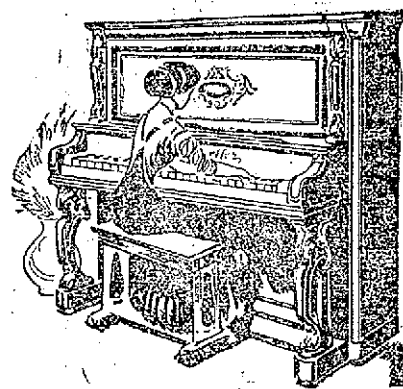

Be sure and ask your druggist about ENGLISH HEMORRHOID TREATMENT. It is the only thorough treatment that can be used in your own home and it does not accomplish all that is claimed for it after a fair trial, of course, your druggist will return your money. We guarantee satisfaction.

Using the "Movies" to Fight Tuberculosis is the Latest Plan That Has Been Adopted

SCENES IN THE ANTI-TUBERCULOSIS MOVING PICTURE PLAY
Upper—In Bellevue hospital clinic; Wells and Harvey learn Edith's address. Lower—Edith consults her family doctor

Can you imagine a more effective, the moving picture show? The power of spreading before the public the nature of the warfare on the "white" of fresh air and the need of "plague" could not think of one, so they funds for fighting tuberculosis, that made arrangements for telling visitors of the picture shows how best to guard themselves and their beloved ones. The method is simple. The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis got a well known author, James Oppenheim, poet and writer of stories, to tell in a simple moving picture scenario, or story, a tale of a successful fight against a case of tuberculosis. Then the association employed the actors and actresses of a well known company to pose before the camera, so that their doings were recorded on the narrow strips of film. The company is to supply the film to the agencies, and these in turn will supply it to the exhibitors.

A feature of the exhibition of the anti-tuberculosis moving picture play is the impetus given to the sale of the Red Cross seals, or stamps, by means of which funds are raised each year, before and during the holiday season, for the warfare on consumption. The seals, which cost a cent apiece, are affixed to letters and other mail matter.

The title of the play and its leading note is "Hope." The story, as portrayed by Mr. Oppenheim, tells of a young banker in a little New York town. His name is John Harvey, and he has a bookkeeper named Wells; with whose daughter, Edith, Harvey is in love. A few weeks before the holiday season Harvey is asked to engage in a tuberculosis campaign in his town, to form a committee to sell Red Cross Christmas seals and to work for the erection of a local sanatorium. He shows the material to his old bookkeeper, and the two men laugh at the idea that a country district need engage in such a fight. Careless and unthinking, Wells puts some of the pamphlets in his pocket and forgets the incident.

Meanwhile, Edith is trying hard to conceal from her father and lover the annoying cough which she has developed and also the knowledge given her privately by the old family physician that she has tuberculosis. She struggles hard against her love for Harvey and her father, especially when the banker shows her the new home which he is building for them. She is about resolved not to yield to the doctor's advice recommending that she go to a sanatorium, when one evening she accidentally discovers the tuberculosis literature in her father's pocket.

As she reads of the dangers to which she is exposing those whom she loves and of the hope of a cure that may be hers if she will go to a sanatorium she finally conquers her immediate desire and resolves to live for health and a cure. She writes a note to her father and to Harvey, releasing him from their engagement, and leaves home secretly for New York to see what chance she has of being cured.

It is not a difficult task to persuade Edith to go home and take the cure in the sanatorium. Here she recovers her health, and as an indication of her future mode of life on entering her new home for the first time a happy bride, she throws the windows wide open to let in the fresh air.

LOWELL HIGH CLOSES SEASON

Played Tie Game With Rock Ridge—Alumni Game Postponed—Other Sports

The members of the sporting fraternity of this city observed the holiday in a fitting manner yesterday. The outdoor programs were somewhat hampered by the inclement weather, but nevertheless those who did brave the storm enjoyed the games. The indoor sports were well patronized and the day was filled for bowling, roller skating and skating pool. The boxing alley was well occupied during the entire day, and several interesting matches were held. The basketball and basketball games were also well attended. At the armory there was an interesting series of games, and the militia men had a most enjoyable day. The Bantings entertained at their clubhouse, and the members also enjoyed a game of soccer. "Open house" was the order during the day, and the members and their friends were well satisfied with the way they enjoyed the holiday. The football game between the Lowell High and the Rock Ridge school teams at Washington park in the morning was attended by a very large and enthusiastic number of spectators and the Lowell fans were disappointed to see the boys wind up the season with a victory they were treated to a most exciting game of football. The game scheduled for the afternoon between the Lowell High school alumni and the Lawrence High school graduates did not materialize owing to the unpropitious weather, but this battle will be pulled off tomorrow. Several amateur football games scheduled for yesterday were called off temporarily.

Football Stars Here

The graduates of the Lowell and Lawrence high schools who were to have composed the football eleven who planned to determine supremacy on the gridiron yesterday afternoon at Washington park, postponed the contest until Saturday because of the snow storm.

This struggle should prove to be fast and interesting for all followers of the game in this vicinity are aware of the fact that both Lowell and Lawrence turned out very strong teams in the past years.

A Tie Game

The Rock Ridge Hall school played an unusually good game against the Lowell high school yesterday at Washington park. The game was the last one of the season and a large Thanksgiving crowd was present. One of the principal features of the contest was the playing of Leggat, of the visitors, who is a Lowell boy, and for several years was one of the stars of the Lowell eleven. The final score of the contest was 7 to 7, Cawley making the touchdown for Lowell and Ambrose making the "counter" for Rock Ridge.

The Lowell team played a fast game and only for a blocked punt in the third period the score would have been 7 to 0. During this play Lowell by line plunging and formations managed to get the ball on Rock Ridge's three yard line. Cawley then tried to punt but his kick was blocked by Ambrose of Rock Ridge who fell on the ball behind the goal posts. Campbell then kicked the goal.

For Lowell, Cawley and Bailey did the best work and Campbell and Ambrose were the stars of the visiting team. Lowell kicked off to Rock Ridge at the start of the game and the ball was kicked toward their goal by line plunging, but the local team managed to stop the visitors when they were about twenty-five yards from their goal. Lowell then retaliated, going down the field at a rapid rate. Cawley plunging the line hard and gaining wonderfully. Time was called and the ball was very near the goal line. During the second period Lowell managed to get the ball over the line. Cawley made the touchdown, a trick formation being used. He then kicked the goal. During the third period Lowell was penalized several times for offside play. Rock Ridge's ball was in the middle of the field and the Lowell line appeared to be a stone wall as the visitors were unable to make any headway. Lowell was declared offside and lost the ball, after which Rock Ridge attempted to punt, thus making it the first down for them. A forward pass was executed, Leggat taking the ball and making thirty yards. He was finally tackled when on Lowell's eight yard line. Lowell then put up a hard fight and the visitors could not get the ball beyond Lowell's three yard line and they then lost it on downs. Cawley then stood in back of the goal line and prepared to punt the ball out but it was poorly fell on it for a touchdown. Campbell then kicked the goal, making the score a tie, 7 to 7. During the final period Lowell played a fast game, outclassing the visitors, but the ball was not at any time near the two goals and when the game was called the play was in the center of the field. The lineup:

LOWELL HIGH	ROCK RIDGE

BOWLING NEWS

On the Crescent alleys last night two six men teams, representing the Boston and Lowell deaf mutes, bowled an interesting candle pin game. The Lowell boys proved a little too strong for the visitors, the former winning the second and third strings and the total. McGreaver of the visiting team was the high man of the evening, bowling a three string total of 295.

The Married Men and the Single Men had it on the Crescent alleys last night and the "tied ones" handed the "free agents" a terrible beating. The bachelors took the first and third strings and won the total by the small margin of seven pins.

The Lowell team defeated the I. O. O. F. quintet in the Moody Bridge alleys yesterday, the former taking three points.

WOLGAST LOSES TITLE

He Fouled Ritchie in the 16th Round

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 29.—Ad Wolgast, lightweight champion pugilist, lost his title to Willie Ritchie yesterday in the 16th round of their fight at Daly City. In that round Wolgast fouled Ritchie twice and Referee James Griffin awarded the fight to Ritchie. Wolgast, however, was already a beaten man. His eyes were glazed, his legs shaky, his whole body tottering. The end of the fight came after these at the ringside had noticed in the 15th round that Wolgast's strength seemed waning somewhat. At the beginning of the 16th the boys faced each other with Ritchie confidently carrying the fight in his opponent.

Wolgast looked worried. His face had lost the sneering smile it wore in the earlier rounds. Ritchie made him wince with a two-finger to the body, and then shot a crushing right square to the jaw.

Wolgast fell against the ropes, then retreated toward his corner. Ritchie crowded him, and as Wolgast raised a head Ritchie right crossed him and Wolgast fell sprawling.

The official time keeper, George Harting, who has been counting out champions for 37 years, began to toll off the seconds. At the count of four, Wolgast, very dazed, got up and came toward his antagonist.

Ritchie, who had crossed to the opposite side of the ring, rushed to meet him and they exchanged blows. Wolgast, though badly dazed, covered so that Ritchie could not send in the finishing smash.

Two Fouts in Succession

Only 21 seconds remained of the round. Ritchie, near his own corner, made ready for the right cross again, when Wolgast's left struck him low. Hundreds of voices raised the cry of "foul foul" and Referee Griffin cautioned Wolgast.

In another instant the left glove of Wolgast struck low again. Ritchie tried to fight back, but was plainly in distress.

Referee Griffin rushed between the two fighters, pushed Wolgast aside and raised Ritchie's hand in token of victory. The crowd at the ringside cheered him and hundreds rushed to shake hands when he left the ring. Ritchie was taken to a bathhouse and Wolgast went to his Ocean Beach training quarters immediately after the fight.

CAN SEE ENTIRE FIELD

Clark Says Bench Manager Has Advantage

Fred Clarke, manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, recently answered the queries who tried to show him that his place during the games was on the coaching lines and that he should be out there all the time. He asserts—and there is reason in what he says—that the man who is directing a team can keep in far closer touch with his men from the bench than on the coaching lines.

On the lines he can see only part of the field, and his attention is taken up closely with one or two men on the bags. He is unable to pay much attention to the opposition, for he is generally held responsible if a blunder is made by a runner. On the bench the pilot can see the entire field and has time to think about what must be done.

Fans have more than once called managers quitters because they were out coaching when their team was ahead, and then retired to the bench as soon as the situation became critical or their team fell behind. As a matter of fact, the leaders were not quitting in any sense of the word, but were retiring to devote themselves exclusively to the task of trying to figure out a better defense or an improved attack, leaving the less important rule of coacher to some of their lieutenants.

It is a fact that many players lack initiative and seldom make a move that is not suggested in them. How often have you seen a man cast a glance toward the bench after each pitch? The batsman is awaiting a signal, upon which will depend his next move.

Signs and signals are part of the national game. Some teams have them down to a finer point than others, but an experienced manager will without them. Often movements on the part of a coacher which seem foolish to the spectator are part of a well formulated system of signals which is of vast importance. The signs must be simple, because they must be guessed and thoroughly understood by every member of the team, and yet they must be so much as cannot be "stoled" by the opposition.

In 1911 many experts asserted that much of the success of the Athletics was due to the fact that Connie Mack made a systematic effort to learn the signals of the opposing teams. It is claimed that he assigned certain of his trusted players to duty on the coaching lines, with instructions to watch closely every move made by rivals and attempt to learn their signs. It is stated that he was very successful in this respect and that the knowledge which his spies gained helped the team to win the American league championship. No fault could be found with Mack's course for he did nothing which was prohibited by the rules, but simply had his men use their brains all the time and observe everything that went on around them.

RESTING SOCCER NOTES
The Hunting Soccer team will travel to New Hampshire tomorrow to play the state championship United team on Varsity Park. The Manchester boys are now in second place in the league standing and are confident of regaining first in the season closes. The local boys have been playing good football of late and will make trouble for the United team. The following players are requested to report at the Boston & Maine depot, Middlesex street at 1 o'clock: A. Smith, Mahon, Littlefield, Lane, Tulser, Clark, Mitchell, Kelley, Johnson, J. Kelly, W. Smith, Cousin, Burrows, Walker, Graham, Linesman, Kennedy. Other league games Saturday. Nov. 30: Lawrence v. Andover. Class v. Manchester Blues. South Lawrence v. Lawrence Olympics.

TRoubled With DANDRUFF 20 YEARS

Dry Skin on Scalp. Would Show Badly on Coat Collar. Cured After Few Treatments with Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

743 Third Ave., New York, N. Y.—"Having been troubled with dandruff for twenty years and trying numerous lotions, washes, etc., without any effect, I thought I would give Cuticura Soap and Ointment a try. The scalp always had dry skin on it which did not itch as it gave it a good brushing every morning and evening, but through the day the dandruff would show badly on my coat collar.

"I used the Cuticura Soap to shampoo my hair and rubbed in a little Cuticura Ointment. After a few treatments I found the head clean and healthy, free from all dry scales. Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured the dandruff, and now I use Cuticura to keep it from returning." (Signed) W. Dyke, Jan. 2, 1912.

For pimples and blackheads the following is a most effective and economical treatment: Gently smear the affected parts with Cuticura Ointment, on the end of the finger, but do not rub. Wash off the Cuticura Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water and continue bathing for some minutes. This treatment is best on rising and retiring. At other times use Cuticura Soap freely for the toilet and bath, to assist in preventing inflammation, irritation and clogging of the pores. Sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura," Dept. T, Boston.

"Dandruff-faced men should use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick, 25c. Sample free.

LUXURIOUS BAGS
Shopping Bags Will Be Popular as Christmas Gifts. Shopping bags in this autumn's importations present a most businesslike exterior. With substantial catches and boxed corners they resemble miniature gripsacks rather than the ornamental adjuncts of shopping or club costumes. For the time being suede, velvet and fanciful effects are frowned.

The side of the bags betrays their frivolous purpose. One plain black bag of French pig morocco is lined with mouse colored chambray and filled with brushes, bottles, powder case, etc. The new envelope shape, about twelve inches long, has mirror, memorandum pad and powder purse in a row inside the flap. Even this extended bag has handles from the corners instead of from the top bar, as these widely separated, flexible, double strap handles have proved much more convenient to swing from the arm. One of these bags would make a nice gift.

PROPERTY OWNERS
Read With Great Interest the Remarkable Offers Made by C. B. Coburn Company

Few property owners, if any, have failed to read the advertisements of pure spirits of turpentine, pure white lead and pure linseed oil, which C. B. Coburn Co. had inserted in The Sun this week. The Coburn advertisements not only show a clear saving in their present prices of these essential painting materials, but comparing them with the market prices of last year, they show really greater reductions than one would at first imagine them to be. This should be welcome news to property owners and householders who have from year to year been putting off painting, owing to the high prices necessarily asked, because of unfavorable conditions.

With the low prices that C. B. Coburn Co. has put upon these goods, surely property owners will want to begin painting now. Just think: They advertise a saving of 50 per cent on linseed oil, and over 60 per cent on spirits of turpentine, while the price of white lead is reduced half a cent a pound. With these available goods and the present good weather, this seems a good time to have the property painted.

LEADING SINGER DEAD

Osmond Long a Victim
of Paralysis

The many friends of Osmond Long, the well known singer, will be pained to learn of his death which occurred suddenly Wednesday evening. Deceased had been sick only a few hours, suffering from a stroke of paralysis.

afternoon. He was immediately removed to his home, 32 Jenness street, where he passed away a few hours later.

Deceased was born in Bradford, Eng., October 24, 1856, and has lived in Lowell for the past 21 years. He was widely known as a tenor soloist. He was a member of the Mendelssohn quartet and of the First Universalist church choir. He has always taken an active part in the musical life of this city and his demise will be keenly felt, especially in musical circles. He is survived by his wife and two daughters, Gladys and Flora, three brothers, Thomas in this country and Charles and Harry in England.

He was a member of the Thomas Talbot lodge, A. F. and A. M., of North Billerica, and was also a 32nd degree Mason, and a member of the Sons of St. George.

MANY STAR TROTTERS

Being Shipped Across
the Ocean

Isador Schlessinger of Vienna, Austria, who has probably purchased more record trotters in the United States than any other foreigner, shipped for Austria recently a string of eleven trotters, some of which will be used for racing on the other side and others for breeding purposes. Among the eleven were three low marked performers, all formerly the property of Ralph B. Williams of Boston, for whom they were raced by Lon McDonald. The Williams trio comprised Amy Brooks, 2:04½; Miss Abell, 2:08½; and Lady Sealskin, 2:06½. These mares of

Mr. Williams have been in Kentucky for some time, and a number of their colts are eligible for the big futurities of a year or two hence. They were all in fact when sold to Mr. Schlessinger. Of the purchases Mr. Schlessinger made upon his present trip to the states the most important was that of the three-year-old colt Adlon that Johnny Dickerson started with so much success in the futurities, who was in the aggregate $381 with him. Adlon was originally to be consigned to a big New York sale, but Mr. Schlessinger happened along and, not intending to remain in this country as late as November, acquired the colt at private sale, there being a variety of estimates as to just what was received for the three-year-old. Others that Schlessinger took over the sea at the same time included Crib Leburn, 2:11½; Marie G., 2:11½; Nana, 2:11½; Teza Astellion, 2:14½, and Clay.

MANY BASEBALL PLAYS

Are Pulled Unknown to
the Spectators

All that the spectator sees of any ball game is what occurs on the diamond and the coaching lines. He watches the attack and defense as he sees them unfolded before him, but he only sees half of the game. The other half is being played on the benches of the home and visiting teams, where rival managers are trying to outwit each other.

Spectators who occupied seats in the grand stand on the National league circuit have often noticed Hans Wagner arise from a seat near the end of the Pirate bench while the home team is at bat and go over to sit beside Fred Clarke. Many times the manager and his chief lieutenant are exchanging views on the best method of procedure. Every manager has two or three players in whom he places great dependence and to whom he often listens for advice during contests. Philippe and Leach are two players who have passed from the Pirate ranks who were of great aid to Clarke in this respect. Larry Doyle is McGraw's chief aid, Johnny Evans and Joe Tinker were Frank Chance's hovers. Miller

I renew my Free Trousers offer to every man ordering a Suit or Overcoat in my store during these two dull days following this Thanksgiving holiday.

I want my old customers to avail themselves of this opportunity—I want to see many new customers. I want to force this sale of at least 70 to 100 Suits and Overcoats.

Warm weather is keeping back orders for winter clothing, in particular Overcoats, and to brace things up and make you order in spite of this warmth, I am giving absolutely FREE a pair of trousers with each Suit or Overcoat ordered FRIDAY OR SATURDAY.

P. S. It is an old saying in business that you can't get something for nothing in this world. This rule makes some persons think I charge for Free Trousers when I give them to customers on special occasions. The belief is absolutely without foundation, in fact, I don't charge one cent extra for the Pants, and it is true you don't get them for nothing. Business is worth money to me. I have to let go to get business. I let go to the landlord. I let go to the help. I let go to the newspapers for advertising. I let go to the people, every now and then, to force them to buy and to talk about me. The only condition I impose is that you come from this advertisement and let me know it by asking for the Pants before you leave the store.

Come in, pick out the cloth you want, have my cutter measure you for Suit or Overcoat, then make your selection for the FREE PANTS, or pick them before you are measured.

Latest English Sensation
The sensation of the London athletic season occurred recently when W. R. Applegarth created a new world's record of 19 2-5 seconds for 200 yards at Kennington oval. This, of course, is easily the best time ever accomplished at this distance in England, but it is probable that R. C. Craig was putting up an equally good performance when he created his two records at 21 1-5 seconds for 220 yards. Craig, of course, was not timed at 200 yards, and

OBSERVED FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

BANNER OF L'UNION GARIN, NATIONAL INDEPENDANTE

L'U. G. N. Independant Held a Parade, Blessing of Banner and Whist Yesterday

A very pretty ceremony was held yesterday morning at St. Joseph's church, in Lee street, when the banner of L'Union Garin Nationale Independante was blessed. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion, and the congregation almost taxed its seating capacity. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Charles Audibert, O. M. I., and he also delivered an appropriate sermon.

The event was in connection with the fifth anniversary of the founding of the union and closed in the evening with a largely attended whist at Grafton hall. At 9 o'clock in the forenoon the members of the union and several other fraternal orders met at C. M. A. C. hall in Pawtucket street and formed in line, the order being as follows: A. G. Cadore, Capt. Arthur L. Lamoureux, Garde Frontenac, Capt. Albert Bergeron, Garde d'Honneur, Capt. Joseph L. Lamoureux, and Garde Jacques-Cartier, Capt. Alfred Grenier, La Societe St. Jean Baptiste, Branch Pawtucketville, A. C. C. O. E., Union Antoine and St. Paul, C. O. E., Union Samuel de Champlain, P. O. E., Union St. Jean Baptiste d'Amerique and L'Union Garin Nationale Independante. The banner, an artistic piece of work, bearing a fine portrait of the late Rev. Andre M. Garin, O. M. I.,

after whom the union was named, was carried by Messrs. Etienne Raymond, Joseph Grandbois and David Rainville. The procession went its way to St. Joseph's church, where at 10 o'clock high mass was celebrated by the chaplain of the union, Rev. Charles Audibert, O. M. I., who also spoke interestingly. The choir was under the direction of Mr. Frank Gourdeau and it rendered the Missa Royale in Grand procession chant, Mrs. Joseph A. Bernard presiding at the organ. The soloists were: J. J. Z. Robillard, Telesphore Malo, Hermenegilde Marin, Arthur Laviole and Edmond Lambert. At the offertory Mr. Gourdeau rendered in fine voice Lamblinette's "Ave Maria." The banner was blessed before the mass and during the service it occupied a place in the sanctuary.

In the evening the members of the union and their many friends met in Grafton hall in Merrimack street and enjoyed a game of whist, suitable prizes being awarded the winners at the close of the contest. This was followed by a very interesting and enjoyable musical program.

The committee in charge of the celebration was as follows: Narcisse Fouchet, chairman; Arthur Laviole, secretary; Fred Lebel, treasurer; Etienne Raymond, Frank Gode, Albert Jussima, Joseph Grandbois, Arthur Morvan, George Lebrun, Joseph Goyette, E. X. Rivet, Joseph Corbin, David Cole, Edmond Lambert, Arthur Robillard, Joseph Bussiere, J. P. Marchand, L. J. Tessier, Resider Leclerc and David Rainville.

FINE ENTERTAINMENT

Enjoyed by Large Audience at the Sacred Heart School Hall Wednesday Evening

A delightful concert by the Muscular club was given in the Sacred Heart school hall Wednesday evening. The hall was literally packed and all present enjoyed the evening's festivities.

It opened with a regular minstrel overture. Miss May G. Brown officiating as soloist. Miss Kathleen M. Jennings sang the "Tost" number, "Good-Bye," and won much applause. Mr. John Shanley obliged with "Who Put Me in My Little Bed." Miss Anna Murphy followed with "Mother Maccherie," and George A. Kirwin sang "Till the Sands of the Desert Grow Cold." The concluding number was "I Want a Regular Man," Miss Margaret M. McQuillan giving it cleverly. She was assisted by Walter Brown and Joseph McGinn. John W. Healey was the accompanist.

In the chorus were the following: Misses Brown, Sharkey, Jennings, McQuillan, O'Donnell, Flynn, H. Spencer, J. Spencer, Clark, Shanley, Murphy, Kneafsey, Ashworth, O'Hare, Cowell, Mealey and Ryan and Messrs. Kirwin, Finlay, Finnegan, Heaton, W. Brown, Lynch, Frederick McGuire, O'Brien, Duggan, Bassett, J. Doyle, Freeman, Gibson, Mullen, Broderick, McGinn, T. McKelvey, Shanley and T. Brown.

After the minstrel overture dancing was in order, with music furnished by the Ideal Ladies' orchestra.

Tables were located around the hall and all were well patronized. They were in charge of the following: Candy table, Lilla Heider, matron; Anna Craig, May Cowell, Mary Burns, Nellie Murphy, Anna Bradley, Gertrude Ward and Elizabeth McLean, of the Children of Mary Sodality.

Tonic and lemonade: Martha Kivlan, Margaret Blackburn, Margaret Connolly, Josephine Lynch and Loretta Sharkey, of the Holy Angels Sodality. Refreshments: Mrs. Thomas Farrell, matron; Mrs. Maria Doherty, Mrs. Eugene Flynn, Mrs. Patrick Gookin, Mrs. Hans Bakke, Mrs. William Burrows, Mrs. Stephen Brennan, Mrs. Eugene Sullivan and Mrs. Patrick Routine of the Holy Rosary Sodality.

Very Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. I., Rev. John P. Flynn, O. M. I., Rev. Bernard Fletcher, O. M. I., Rev. James McDermott, O. M. I., and Rev. T. Franklin Wood, O. M. I., of the Sacred Heart parish and Rev. Francis X. McGinn, O. M. I., and Rev. John M. O'Brien, O. M. I., of Tewksbury parishes were present during the evening.

CATHOLIC CHURCH NEWS

Yesterday's Masses Were Largely Attended

The members of the Holy Name society of the Sacred Heart parish attended the memorial masses for their departed members at the church yesterday morning at 9 o'clock. Rev. John P. Flynn, O. M. I., spiritual director of the society officiated. The responses were sung by the sanctuary choir. The attendance was very large, the members occupying seats in the centre aisle.

St. Michael's Church

The annual memorial mass for the deceased members of the Holy Name society of St. Michael's parish was sung at 8 o'clock yesterday by Rev. John J. Shaw, pastor. There was a large attendance.

Immaculate Conception

Rev. Edward Fox, O. M. I., sang the annual mass for the living and departed members of the Immaculate Conception parish at 9 o'clock yesterday morning.

At St. Peter's church yesterday morning the members of the Maternity Temperance Institute attended mass celebrated at 9 o'clock by Rev. Daniel Keeler, pastor, which was offered up for the deceased members of the society.

At St. Patrick's

A memorial mass for the deceased members of the L'Union Garin was sung at St. Patrick's church at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. The members met at their hall in Market street at 8 o'clock and marched to the church, where they occupied seats in the centre aisle.

The members of the Irish National Brotherhood attended mass in a body yesterday morning at St. Patrick's, for the repose of the souls of deceased members. Rev. Joseph Quinn was the celebrant and the choir, under the direction of Mr. Michael Johnson, sang the responses and hymns.

NORTH CHELMSFORD

The second annual ball of the Catholic club was held in the town hall on Thanksgiving eve and there was a very large and enthusiastic attendance. The affair opened with an excellent concert by Hibbard's orchestra of Lowell which started at 8 o'clock and continued until 2:30 o'clock when the grand march was formed. There were over 20 couples in the march and it was led by Mr. and Mrs. James Walker. These were followed by James P. Quigley and Miss Charlotte Lowe, Walter McManney and Miss Rose McManney, John P. McManney and Miss Virginia McManney, W. J. Quigley and Miss Gertrude Quigley, Captain and Mrs. John J. Monahan and others. The various evolutions were well executed and greatly applauded to those who witnessed the attractive scene from the gallery, which contained a large number of interested spectators and other dancers who joined the others on the floor when dancing was in order.

A well arranged order of dances followed and with the exception of a short intermission at 11:30 o'clock when refreshments were served in the lower hall, dancing continued until midnight, when all pronounced it a great success. Rev. Fr. Mitchell, who has charge of the club, was present during the evening and greatly enjoyed the evening's program. Those responsible for the success of the ball were:

James P. Quigley, general manager; Walter McManney, assistant general manager; James Walker, floor director; William J. Quigley, John P. McManney and John McManney, who were assisted in their respective tasks by other members of St. John's Catholic club.

A pleasant surprise party was held Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Cora Allard, when a number of her friends assembled and presented her a beautiful locket and chain. Later in the evening, refreshments were served and a musical program carried out.

club members as it has been held annually on Thanksgiving eve ever since the organization of the club. J. Arlene Trudel, chairman of the committee, presided over the festivities and went through the formalities to the satisfaction of all.

A delightful entertainment program was rendered, those taking part being as follows: David Heide, George La-brunche, Severin St. George, J. Betty and Frank Trilchin. Remarks were made by the following: Rev. Henry Aelin, Jr. and Victor P. Jewett, and Commissioner George H. Brown and Xavier Deltale, secretary to Congress-man-elect J. J. Rogers.

LAWYER PATRICK GETS PARDON

He Was Convicted of Murder of William M. Rice—Death Sentence Commuted in 1906

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 29.—Albert T. Patrick, who is serving a life sentence in Sing Sing prison for the murder of William M. Rice, an aged millionaire, in New York city, on Sept. 23, 1900, was pardoned Wednesday night by Gov. Dix.

Patrick, who was saved from the electric chair by the late Gov. Higgins, in December, 1905, had made a remarkable fight for freedom.

A lawyer by profession, he protested when Gov. Higgins commuted the death sentence to life imprisonment, declaring that the governor had no legal right to cancel the original sentence and impose a punishment of life imprisonment.

Gov. Dix announced that he had pardoned Patrick just as he was about to leave the capitol for the executive mansion.

There has always been an air of mystery in this important case," he said. "Quoting from the minority opinion, the atmosphere that surrounded the defendant showed that a fair and impartial trial was scarcely possible."

"I trust that Mr. Patrick will devote his energies to a complete vindication of his declared innocence."

"During the past year I have given much consideration to this case and am convinced that the defendant is entitled to have a full pardon."

Gov. Dix said Col. Joseph P. Scott, superintendent of state prisons, was among those who recommended Patrick's pardon. He had received letters, he said, from scores of prominent citizens in Patrick's behalf, but he declined to say who the writers were.

After the governor signed the pardon an attaché of the executive department dropped the document into the local postoffice last night in an envelope addressed to Warden John S. Kennedy of Sing Sing.

May Claim Rice Millions

It is said that Patrick plans to leave for St. Louis, the home of John T. Milliken, his brother-in-law, but may return later as a claimant for the millions left by the aged man with whose murder he was charged. Mr. Milliken aided Patrick in his fight for freedom, and it is reported will assist him in his efforts to prove his innocence.

In saving Patrick from the death chair in 1905, Gov. Higgins gave these reasons:

"It is not claimed that Patrick committed the murder in person, but that he procured the act to be done. He has been convicted principally upon the testimony of Charles F. Jones, who confessed that he murdered his master while he lay asleep, instigated by Patrick, and Jones by this testimony has purchased his own immunity from trial or punishment. Neither this fact alone, nor the review of any question of fact already passed upon by the courts at some stage of these proceedings, would seem to me to warrant interfering with the judgment of death pronounced against the defendant, but three of the seven judges of the court of appeals were so strongly of opinion that errors were committed at the trial which were substantially prejudicial to the rights of Patrick, that I feel that the death penalty, under the circumstances, ought not to be inflicted."

It was to the opinion of the minority of the court of appeals, that Gov. Dix referred in his statement Wednesday night as to his reasons for pardoning Patrick.

SNOWBALL WAS "LOADED"

Young Man Received Deep Gash in the Forehead and Was Treated at the Hospital

Manuel Gomez, aged 16 years, of 43 North street, was struck on the forehead with a snowball containing a piece of stone yesterday afternoon and suffered a deep gash which necessitated the taking of two stitches in the wound at the Emergency hospital.

Gomez and a number of other young men were engaged in throwing snowballs at each other in Suffolk street when the accident happened.

Fell and Broke Forearm

Mrs. Willett, residing at 53 French street, fell at her home about 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and sustained a break of the right forearm. The ambulance was summoned and the woman was taken to the Lowell hospital where she received treatment.

HOT BATHS FOR BEAUTY

Are Favored in All Kinds of Weather

Two women who had met for some time were standing in the street discussing their relative looks.

"Goodness, how young you look! How do you manage it?"

"Hot bath every day. Boiling, mind you!"

"In all kinds of weather, too?"

And then the speaker ventured the opinion that hot baths were bad for the heart, weakening the organ that is not up to the normal point. So they are, admitted the first woman, but as her own heart was strong she had no fear of the hot bath.

Both women were about the same age, forty-four, but the devotee of the hot bath seemed ten years younger than the other.

It would, of course, be wrong to prescribe hot tubs for all the world of women, for there are undoubtedly conditions when they would be harmful. But daily tubbing in water of some temperature or other is required for looks and health, and if the heart is in good condition the benefit of the hot bath is undeniable.

Some medical facts concerning the hot bath give illuminating information. The hot bath facilitates and stimulates the natural combustion processes of the body. The cold bath to produce the same effect uses up just four times the amount of energy.

The hot bath is not sufficiently cleansing for the health of the skin, and when there is a disposition to skin troubles the chilly water tends to increase them. The process called hardening, which consists in submitting one's system to the shock of cold plunges, is now thought to be the worst thing in the world for any but the most vigorous constitutions.

When there is no convenience for the daily plunge it is possible to secure much of the same benefit with a basin of hot water. The needed thing is to open the pores of the skin and cleanse it of daily wastes by the free use of soap and water and brisk friction. A complete sponge taken in this way every morning will keep the skin in sweet, wholesome condition. A little aromatic tincture of some kind in the basin bath will add much to its refreshing powers, and for this purpose benzoin is excellent, being bleaching as well as invigorating.

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS

Suggestions on What to Give "Him"

Christmas gifts for men are the ones which usually cause the deapest thought. For men of the family one can select the personal gift, remembering weaknesses for silken hose and scarves of varied hues. For the man friend the intimate gift must be avoided and something impersonal substituted.

For the college man or the man away from home, sojourning in one room or a suite of rooms, something that will add beauty or comfort to these rooms is always a desirable and welcome gift.

A pennant is a gift always appreciated by the college man. There are several ways of developing it in leather, using the suede side as the right side. The letters can also be cut from leather (of the same or contrasting shade), using the glue finish for the right side of the letters. Pin the letters in place and stitch by machine.

For the very modest man who does not wish even to develop it in leather, the pennant can be made of contrasting silk thread. Follow the outline of each letter in single or double line stitching. As a result the pennant possesses quiet dignity. Ribbon can also be used for lettering and stitched into place.

In selecting letters adopt the style to the preference of the recipient and the character of the pennant. Block letters with square, straight lines are always good and easier to manage on the machine than the more ornate letters.

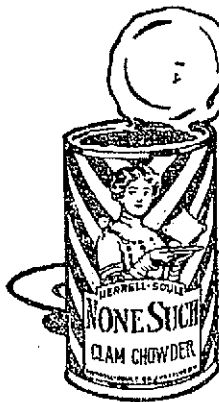

A stencil pattern can be designed and the letters so applied.

A thoughtful gift for the invalid or man who travels is a portable head rest. This is made entirely of leather.

It is small and rectangular and made on the style of a baby's pillow cover, with its opening across the center of the back into which to slip the down cushion. The inflated rubber cushion or the cushion of blue neoprene leather fringes very attractively, and colored fringe makes charming tassels ornaments for the corners of cushions and the like.

CHILDREN NEED SLEEP HEAD OF LONDON POLICE

Mothers Should Allow Them More Rest Was Shot and Seriously Wounded

The mother who has a child at school may not be able to help him with his lessons, for the modern system of teaching rather deprecates home assistance, but there is one thing she can do for him which will benefit him even more and that is to see that he gets enough sleep.

It is only lately that physicians have been emphasizing the need of sleep for children. The child who gets enough sleep is the one who is bright and quick mentally, who grows normally well, who eats properly and who is not nervous and irritable. An early supper and an early bedtime are the things for the school child. Then put him in a well ventilated bed room and let him have ten or eleven full hours of slumber and he'll wake up bright and healthy and good, too.

Many of the little, whining, nervous children we see are simply suffering from lack of sleep. Many small naughtinesses simply come from tired nerves and weakness of mind and body. So many mothers notice such a difference in the behavior of children once they have started to school and at a loss to understand the reason, it is because the daily nap which the child took before he went to school has been given up, but the bedtime hour has not been changed. Consequently the nerves of the child suffer.

Try giving the school child supper at 5:30, a nourishing and easily digested supper, too. Then at 8 promptly pack him off to bed. If he doesn't sleep let him sip a cup of hot milk and let him have a little tartaric acid or a spoonful of soda has been dissolved. It should be rinsed in clean warm water.

Clean Sponges Frequently

One's sponge should be cleaned frequently to keep it in good condition. An effective way of washing it is with warm water in which a little tartaric acid or a spoonful of soda has been dissolved. It should be rinsed in clean warm water.

In the spring they will make plans for the erection of their house on Walnut Heights.

Dr. Arthur Scoboria is soon to build three houses opposite his residence and the residence of J. Adams Bartlett instead of two as first stated. Mrs. James Peck of West Chelmsford entertained over Thanksgiving and the week-end, Mrs. Nelson David of Lowell.

Mr. Ames Cook, who has been at the Massachusetts General hospital, has returned to his home in West Chelmsford.

Mr. Albert Greenwood of the West village has accepted a position in Deerfield, Mass.

Quite a large number of Italians left the Centre and West Chelmsford today bound for Italy, where the majority of them will serve in the army. The others will probably be back in the spring.

SOCIAL AND FRAJERNAL

Considerable important business will be brought before the meeting of Lowell lodge of the A. O. U. W. at 8 o'clock tonight in the Odd Fellows' building. The great question of an increase in the rates and assessments will be discussed and the committees appointed by the subordinate lodge to take up the protest against this action will report their activities. These committees met last Tuesday night in Boston.

A mass meeting of all the subordinate lodges will be called for some night next month to take place in Boston. The new fraternal law is subject to much discussion and unrest at present and strong endeavors to have the mobile bill repealed are being made.

Four Gunmen Who Killed Rosenthal Are in Sing Sing Prison Under a Sentence to Die

OSSENING, N. Y., Nov. 29.—Within the gray walls of Sing Sing prison "Whitey Lewis" Muller, "Dago Frank" Croftel, "Gyp the Blood" Horowitz and "Lefty Louie" Rosenberg are confined in separate cells in the death house awaiting execution. They are under sentence to die the week beginning Jan. 6, but an appeal will probably be taken, which will act as a stay, and the killers will probably spend many weary months in the death house before the court of appeals reaches their case. The men were brought to prison immediately after they were sentenced in New York, Sheriff Harburger and eight deputies being in charge of them. They were met at the railroad station by several guards from the prison, who walked with them along the road leading to the portals of Sing Sing.

RECIPES FOR CAKES

How to Make Appetizing Pastry

Cruellers—Cream half a pound of butter with three-quarters of a pound of powdered sugar. When smooth and light add half a teaspoonful of mace, the same quantity of nutmeg and the well beaten yolks of six eggs. Now stir in the stiffened whites of the eggs alternately with enough flour to make a dough that can be rolled out. Roll into a thin sheet, cut into circles or any shape desired, and drop a few at a time into deep boiling fat. Test the fat with a bit of dough before frying the cruellers in it. When golden brown in color, remove the cruellers with a slotted spoon and lay in a heated colander to drain, sprinkling with powdered sugar. Put away when cool in a crock and keep in a dry place.

Hickory Nut Cake—Break into bits (do not chop) enough hickory nut meats to make a heaping pint. Preheat the oven with flour. Cream half a pound of butter with a pound of powdered sugar, add a half pint of cold water, the well beaten yolks of four eggs, a quarter of a teaspoonful each of ground mace and cinnamon and the stiffened whites of the eggs, added alternately with three cupfuls of flour sifted twice with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Last of all, stir in lightly the floured nut meats, adding more flour if the batter should prove too thin. Turn into a well greased loaf tin and bake in a steady oven until a straw comes out clean from the thickest part of the loaf. Cover with brown paper for the first fifteen minutes of baking. When cold turn out and cover with a white icing, flavoring this with lemon or vanilla, as preferred.

Brown Stone Fruit Cake—Grate two squares of chocolate, and to them add the beaten yolk of an egg and half a cupful of milk. Beat until the mixture thickens, take from the stove and add a tablespoonful of butter creamed with a cupful of sugar, half a cupful of milk, and one and a half cupfuls of flour and a small teaspoonful of soda dissolved in a tablespoonful of boiling water. Bake in layers or in a loaf tin. Take care that it does not burn, as it "catches" readily.

Mock Angel Food—Sift together a cupful each of flour and sugar and two tablespoonfuls of baking powder. Add a pinch of salt and stir twice more. Now stir in a cupful of scalding milk and beat well; then add lightly the stiffened whites of two eggs. Turn immediately into a pan and bake in a steady oven, covering for the first ten minutes it is in the oven.

FOR THE WINTER GARDEN

Advice On Care of Plants and Ferns

There is no more depressing object than a drooping, fading plant. A single half dead fern is enough to spoil the appearance of a whole room. Now, ferns will die, and very quickly, too, unless they are cared for in the proper way.

Never let a fern or plant stand in a pool of water, for this rots the roots. You should not pour water on your fern as it stands in the china covered pot or the water will drop through the hole at the bottom of the clay pot and make a stagnant, ill smelling pool.

Take your fern right out of the extra pot and set it on the doorstep or the window sill and water it there if the weather will permit. Let it stay there for a half hour in order to give it a good airing. Then it will come back into the room looking quite fresh and bright.

Once a month take your fern and stand it in the bathtub and turn on the tap. Let the water run until enough has flowed in to cover the top of the pot and let the fern stay there for an hour.

Nearly all ferns like to have their leaves washed every now and then. The best way of doing this is to set them out of doors on a wet day and let the rain wash them gently.

Plants hate gas. It poisons them, so do not keep them at night for many hours in a room where there is gas burning, but carry them out into the passage or into an unlighted room.

You must be careful not to put delicate ferns in a draft, as this would wither them. Molden hair ferns are especially sensitive and will often curl up and throw down if they are near an open window on a chilly day.

Remove all plants which live in a sitting room where a fire is kept burning need more water than those that live in cooler places. If a plant stands on a mantelpiece it will want to be watered every day, but one that stands near a window will need watering only once or twice a week.

Cleaning Bedsteads
To clean white iron bedsteads use a damp cloth and a little cooking soda. This will leave the bedstead clean and white. Soda will also remove nearly all stains from the slats.

If you want help at home or in your business, try The Sun "Want" column.

How To Make Pillowslips
The best kind of pillowslip for fire is made of heavy or white or unbleached muslin. It may be made more durable by waxing the cloth and ironing it. This will prevent the ends of the sharp leaves from coming through.

GROWS BEAUTIFUL, HEAVY HAIR, WE PROVE IT—25 CENT "DANDERINE"

Destroys dandruff—Stops falling hair—Cleans and invigorates your scalp.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine. It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and in ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and luster and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first, yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower, destroyer of dandruff, and cure for itching scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

The Army and Navy Elevens Are Ready to Clash
In Their Annual Big Gridiron Battle November 30

Scenes in the Big Yale and Harvard Football Game Saturday Afternoon; Two Crimson Stars

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—The Army and Navy elevens are ready for their annual gridiron battle to be played here on Franklin field Nov. 30. As a spectacle the West Point-Annapolis game takes precedence over all others, even though the football is below the standard set by some of the bigger elevens, but there is action every minute. The West Point team is the favorite, and the chances look reasonably bright for it to get some revenge for defeats in the last two years. The midshipmen after going through two seasons without a defeat, lost a snag this year and come up to their last game with little or no prestige. It does not follow, however, that they will be beaten, for the past week the Annapolis players have been working like demons to absorb the football being taught by the coaches. It is held that individually the Navy team is stronger than the Army. The Army and Navy teams have met 16 times, and each has won eight. The first game played between the elevens was in 1890, and the Navy won by a score of 24 to 0. The probable lineup of the two teams will be as follows: Navy—Left end, Overesch; left tackle, Kenneprospects in the ring for the heavy-weight championship, but poor match-making threatens to ruin his chances. Carpenter is not much more than a boy, and still growing. Yet he has been sent against two of the most sturdy middleweights in the ring in quick succession, and has long distance bouts. Practically all his bouts have been for twenty rounds for that matter. Experience has proved again and again that a youngster cannot retain good form after being subjected to the grinding strain of long distance bouts. Carpenter has relinquished all claim to middleweight honors. After a long rest he will next make his appearance in the heavy-weight division. Already he has accumulated $50,000 in his comparatively few bouts—a fact that demonstrates his remarkable popularity and drawing power. He is ambitious and still has hopes of satisfying his admirers.

A BULGARIAN WRESTLER

Yusuf Mahmoud May Not Come Here

Yusuf Mahmoud, the Bulgarian wrestler, may not come to America as he has planned. In fact, there is likely to be a dearth this season of Bulgarian, Greek and other foreign wrestlers to supply the ever increasing demand for mat artists in the United States. Mahmoud is loyal to his native land, Bulgaria. He had an agreement to report to his manager, Emil Klank, in Chicago a short time ago. Passports were denied Bulgarians, however, as early as Sept. 1, and Mahmoud is in the thick of the fight with the Turks. There are two reasons why Mahmoud is eager to return to America. One is to keep his contract with Klank, to whom he is devoted, and the other is to try once more to force Zbyzco to meet him. Klank was on the square with the Bulgarian wrestler and gave him money to go to America. He had earned in his whole previous career. Mahmoud once displayed a check for $2000 that Klank had given him for a few weeks' work on the road. This made a big hit with Yusuf. It will be a blow to the wrestling game if Mahmoud fails to appear on the scene, as he is an able-bodied, energetic and one who has improved steadily since he began his career. He is, in fact, the only consistent and logical rival of Gatch. The heavy-weight wrestlers cannot dodge the big fellow any longer and retain their prestige. There is only one way out of it for them and that is for Mahmoud to be killed by the work of Gatch. "I don't expect Mahmoud to appear now before the termination of the war," said Klank, recently. "He loves people and he is a kind of a kind of fellow to desert them in a crisis. If the Bulgarians win quickly Mahmoud will board the first vessel for America."

"PIGSKIN" NOT PIGSKIN

Football Made From Calfskin

When you refer to football players as pigskin chasers, state that Smithly can boot the pigskin, you display considerable ignorance, said a member of a firm which manufactures the spheroidal used on many of the big and little gridirons. For the football is not made of pigskin at all. In fact, no part of the law but judicious porker enters into its construction. Football covers are made from the material that goes to make your best shoes—calfskin. And only the very best grade of skin is used for good balls. Cheap balls, such as kids buy at the corner store, are made of sheepskin. The bladder which is in the ball is rubber. A visit to the factory where the greatest number of footballs are made elicits more interesting information. For instance, a shop says that the reason the ball is called pigskin is that in the old days a pig's bladder was used to give buoyancy to the ball. The bladder has been discarded and rubber substituted. The regulation intercollegiate ball weighs from thirteen and one-quarter to fourteen ounces. The soccer ball weighs from thirteen to fifteen ounces. Skins for football covers are carefully inspected and are sent to the factory after special treatment. The slightest flaw in a hide means rejection. In the cutting room skill is required to prevent waste. Cutting is done with machinery. The cutter divides the hide into as many oval sections as possible and sends the pieces to the girls who take up the next stage, which consists of carefully lining the leather with cotton twill. This is the slowest work in the plant. It is slow and must be done perfectly. The liners are attached together on one machine and the covers on another. From the last machine the covers come wrong side out, and the better ones are reversed by hand. The cheaper are turned right side out by machinery. Turning a football cover by hand requires great strength. Some men do nothing else, and as a result become exceptionally strong of hand, wrist and arm. Two rubber bladders are inserted when inflated the oval begins to look like the finished product now seen on many fields, but the ball is not ready for delivery. It is stamped in a hot press and worked until its outer surface is smooth and ready for the kick-off. Although the game has changed greatly, the ball remains about the same as the old rugby. From June to November 42,000 oval footballs are turned out by this factory. Some of the best balls are made from hides imported from England, but the skin of the domestic calf is considered good enough for the majority.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 22.—With a brilliant throng of 40,000 persons surrounding the gridiron, the powerful football machine of Harvard won the gridiron championship of the east on Yale field, Nov. 23, by an overwhelming score of 20 to 0. The Crimson team scored two touchdowns, and Halfback Brickley kicked two field goals. It was the first time in eleven years that Harvard had crossed the Yale field. Yale was completely outclassed in all departments of the game. Upper picture shows Brickley of Harvard trying to go through center. Lower one Flynn of Yale punting. Captain Wendell of Harvard played a brilliant game.

KICKED OUT IN COLD

Baseball Managers Victims of Ingratitude

"Baseball is the only business, sport, game, or whatever you may care to call it, in which they kick men out in the cold world for making good," says a prominent baseball man. "Sounds strange, but it's true nevertheless." "Take the case of Frank Chance for illustration. Chance made money hand over fist for Charles Webb Murphy. Still Murphy fired him bag and baggage. How can you beat that? You just can't, and that's all there is to it." "Chance succeeded Frank Selce as manager of the Chicago Cubs in 1904 and won the National league pennant with the club. He has never been worse than third with the Cubs. He won four pennants and two world championships and lost two world series clashes. The Cubs under Chance have been one of the greatest money making teams in the game. Chance's salary when he quit was $5,000 per annum. True, Murphy presented him with $10,000 worth of stock in the club the year he made Frank manager. This stock has earned 200 and 300 per cent dividends every season for Chance. Frank sold the stock for $40,000 shortly after he and Murphy agreed to disagree. The trouble between Murphy and Chance was caused by Chance's demand for more salary. "Frank has been itching for a raise ever since he got wind of the fabulous sums paid Hugh Jennings and Roger Bresnahan. The idea of Bresnahan getting $10,000 a year and 25 per cent of the profits made Chance green with envy. Frank's friends said it was an outrage for Chance to work for an $8,000 salary, while Roger, who never had a team in the first division, was drawing more than twice that amount. "When Chance squealed for more money, Murphy pointed out that Frank's stock was paying him handsomely. Then, when the peevish leader insisted on getting a salary boost Murphy worked himself into a frenzy and decided that the Cubs needed a new manager. "Bresnahan's friends contend that he has been treated harshly by Mrs. Helen Hathaway Britton," continued the old sport. "Of course, Roger has no such record as Chance's, but you've got to hand it to him for rounding up a financial winner for Robison field three of the four years he had charge of the Cubs. Bresnahan must have made big money for Mrs. Britton in 1911 or the lady never would have given him the big contract he signed last fall, which called for $10,000 salary and 10 per cent of the profits. The Cubs did not fare very well this season, but Roger is not entitled to all the blame for the club's failure. "Many staunch supporters of the team contend that if Roger had been permitted to run the club the past season like he did in 1911 the team would have finished in the first division and made big money for its owner. "Mrs. Britton's advisers charge that Bresnahan hurt the team by not playing regularly himself. There is no question that the Cardinal team is much stronger with Bresnahan behind the bat, but I don't take any stock in the stories that Roger sulked and benched himself to get even with Mrs. Britton. I think Roger has received harsh treatment from the lady and that she will realize the fact herself some day. While Roger's career as a manager is not to be compared with Chance's, Bresnahan is in the same boat as far as ingratitude is concerned. Murphy slammed Chance, and Mrs. Britton seems to have thrown the harpoon into Bresnahan about as deep as any man ever got it. "Hank O'Day is another gent who seems to have a kick coming," added the loquacious sport. "Hank has just finished one campaign as manager of the Cincinnati Reds. He had the club out fighting for the pennant the first month of the campaign and made all kinds of cash for Garry Herrmann and Max Felschmann. The team slumped toward the end of the season but O'Day plotted it one notch higher in the championship race than it occupied the year previous. I call that getting results. "Hank boosted the club in the championship standing and made his money for the club owners. They tell me that the season of 1912 was the first prosperous one the Cincinnati club ever had. Nevertheless and notwithstanding everybody in Cincinnati howled for Hank's scalp. Otto Knabe, Miller Huggins, Joe Tinker and Frank Chance have all been touted for the position. "Everybody pounded poor Hank until he got out. Cincinnati seems to be one town where they must have a new baseball manager every season. Nobody seems able to satisfy the Rhinelanders fans. Charlie Comiskey, Ned Hanlon, Clark Griffith, Joe Kelley, Jake Ganzel, Bid McPhee and Buck Ewing all fell down hard in the Queen City.

UNIT PLAY ON GRIDIRON

Is Urged By Coach Walter McCormack

Increase of team play in football is urged by Walter McCormack, former Northwestern university coach, advocating a minor change in the playing rules for 1913. McCormack urges that the goal after touchdown be kicked from scrimmage instead of by two men sent out to the 20-yard line for a fair kick, as is the rule at present. The former Dartmouth star gives many reasons for this, but chief among them is that it will increase the premium put upon team play and lessen the value of individual stars. "Football is the only real team game in American sport," declared McCormack. "Every other sport in the catalogue is for the individual, football alone being the game in which individualism must be sunk to strengthen the unit. Baseball has some team play, but only one or two or three members of the nine are directly interested in any one play, while in football no at-

GEORGES CARPENTIER

Clever Young Boxer Has Made $50,000

The defeat of Georges Carpentier, the idol of France, by Billy Papke, coming as it did on the heels of the Frenchman's loss to Frank Klank, was a sad blow to the boxing enthusiasts of France. Accounts of the bout state that Carpentier's followers were saddened to an extent hardly to be realized abroad. Carpentier is a national institution in France. It was directly an account of his success in the ring that boxing became the rage. He was a hero, a demigod, and the enthusiastic French worshipped at his shrine. From the various opinions expressed about Carpentier's prowess by Anglo-Saxon writers and analyzed by prejudiced sentiment it would appear that he really is a many respects a boxer above the average. It is the opinion in England that he had not been unduly rushed into several hard matches as he would now be one of the finest

STILL SELLING OLD BRICKS

When men go out to sell old bricks in one form or another they are not so culpable when they select their clients among those who have plenty of money. That some of the latter are easily fooled by talented confidence men is proved by the fact that a number of sharpers have raised in about $5,000,000 from the sale of alleged "rare books" and "de luxe" editions. Eight men are indicted by a federal grand jury in New York on this charge and their victims claim to have been swindled out of sums ranging from $100,000 to $50,000. Men who have unlimited wealth might as well spend their money in this way as some other equally fruitless. These "rare books" that might be secured on some of the book stands at one-thousandth of the price asked by the swindlers are just as good as some of the fake art curios purchased at enormous prices in Europe by wealthy Americans who are collecting "art treasures" and who could not distinguish a fresco by Raphael from a chrome by the modern mode of manufacture. Most of these men were swindled by an appeal to their vanity and their affectation of a love for rare books. The swindlers will be punished, of course, if found guilty; but it is a mitigating feature of their case that they imposed upon only men who had plenty of money to spare and who wished to assert "their eminent good taste" by paying enormous prices for rare and artistic works of literary worth. The only charge that can be preferred against these swindlers is, that they asked too much for the articles sold or perhaps represented those articles to be what they are not. In any case these men made a good haul and now that they are indicted, not only they but their victims and others equally susceptible will have an opportunity to learn a valuable lesson.

BILL BOARD ADVERTISING

In spite of all that has been done against bill board advertising, it is still flourishing, still defacing buildings in all large cities and still an eyesore to passengers in trains in almost every part of the country. Here in Lowell bill board advertising is practically as rife now as it has ever been and it is certainly one of the greatest obstacles to the movement for the city beautiful.

The question arises as to the value of this method of advertising in comparison with the usual method of using printer's ink. The prices charged for space on bill boards as a rule are more than the advertisement is worth and the general public seldom reads these advertisements. The pedestrian passing a wall decorated with bill boards seldom reads them and in the vast majority of cases such advertisements are worthless. It is true that some bill boards thrust the name of some brand of tobacco, whiskey or beer into the eyes of the public to the utter disgust of everybody. Does this increase the sale or the popularity of the goods? We doubt it. In some cases such advertisements flaunted in prominent places where they should not be allowed, cause a feeling of resentment in the public mind that must injure rather than benefit the saleability of the commodity.

CHILD SLAVERY

There has often been talk of child labor in the mills of New England, but it has never existed here in any degree approaching the conditions revealed in New York by the state factory investigating commission. That body employed a Vassar graduate to find work in the factories and report on them what she could learn in regard to child labor in the canning factories. The conditions are actually astounding. Children from four years up were employed in shelling beans and other operations, often working from 4 o'clock in the morning till 11 at night. They were brought to the factories by their mothers and often fell asleep at their benches only to be aroused by being prodded by their boss. The Vassar girl, a Miss Chamberlain, told how she had slaved with the other girls at ten cents an hour for fifteen hours a day, while children worked as much as eighteen hours for much less. This is a good method of finding out the inside facts in these canneries, for when the state inspectors are found approaching "the babies" are put out of sight. The state of New York should be ashamed to allow such conditions to exist. There is no child labor in Massachusetts except where parents impose upon the authorities in regard to the age of their children. The employers no longer want to violate the law in this respect.

THE CITY ELECTION

The people of Lowell in the coming city election for two aldermen and three school committee men will have an opportunity to select the best and most capable men from a total of four nominees for aldermen and six for the school board. The sole test should be fitness for the duty to be performed and on this point the voters themselves are the judges. They are free to elect the best men or the worst and upon their choice will depend the character of the men who will serve the city for the next two years. The people are responsible for the results and it will be useless for them to complain if they elect the wrong men. It is true that the recall can be used but it is a clumsy weapon and difficult to apply except in very extreme cases. It is, therefore, the duty of the voters to exercise their judgment in selecting the men who will best serve the interests of the city at large.

Andrew Carnegie is to leave all his money except $25,000,000 to be disposed of by the Carnegie corporation in New York. In spite of all the Lauro of Skibo has been disturbing, it is alleged that the corporation will thus have charge of a great many millions, as Carnegie was accounted almost a billionaire.

It looks as if the New York authorities will make short work of the gunmen. That is the only way to render the penalty of the law effective in preventing such crimes in the future. But if a new trial be granted Becker or the gunmen where will the government find its witnesses now at large seeking to hide their identity?

The progress of surgery is very rapid and some very wonderful things are done, yet the man who goes under the surgeon's knife is never sure of recovery. It will be some years yet before the surgeons can put the severed parts of a man's body in place again with any hope of success.

The people of Lawrence have apparently learned to hold great mass meetings and demonstrations without coming to blows or violating the law in any way. Yesterday's events have demonstrated that the majority as well as the justice of the law has been vindicated.

Orders have been issued by President Mellon of the New York, New Haven & Hartford to have all trains come to a full stop before taking a crossover. Had that precaution been taken some months ago it would have prevented a bad train wreck.

Seen and Heard

While you are doing one piece of work don't be thinking of another.

When Delegate Mark Smith of Arizona was a boy he lived on a big plantation in Kentucky. It was in slavery days, and one of his father's slaves was Uncle Ike, who was the preacher for the place.

Smith's father had built a small church on a corner of the plantation, and uncle held forth there every Sunday. This was pleasing to Ike, because it not only gave him a chance to exhort the negroes, but it allowed him from any of the Sunday chores. One Sunday, as the story goes, Mark went out by the barn and found Uncle Ike sitting disconsolately under a tree. "Look here, Ike," said Mark, "why ain't you down there preaching?" "Well, Ike," said the negro, "I ain't got to preach to dem niggers no more. They's always fightin' amongst themselves, an' I'm sick an' tired, an' I don't want no trouble."

"Stop your lying, Ike," said Mark. "You wouldn't quit such a soft snap as that. What's the matter?" "Well, Mark," Ike replied, "if you mus' know, dem triffin' niggers doze sent me my resignation."

THE DESERTED GARDEN
I watched you while upon your dark-brown hair
The glint of gold defied the gathering
The lust of summer slumbered in the air
And red-lipped plums breathed out their subtle musk.
I felt your presence like a sweet perfume
A fragrant breath that breathed into my soul
The passion of the summer and its bloom
To see Love's fires ablaze beyond control!
O, like a storm Love swept the barriers down
And all the world but Love was in eclipse
And tangled by wind-blown locks of brown
I felt the burning fragrance of your lips!
Ah, that was years and years and years ago
And since that night we two have never met
Another claimed you; still the roses blow
And red-lipped plums bloom in the garden yet.
The summer comes with bloom and fragrant dusk
And haunting music of rose at close of day
But what is summer or the roses' musk
To the lone heart when Love has flown away?

One sin, it may better be called crime—the crime of ingratitude—cannot justly be laid at the door of the Irish. They remember their friends and do not forget their enemies. In the present excitement concerning the home rule bill the Catholic Irishman does not stint to recall the memory of Jonathan Swift, the great dean of St. Patrick of 200 years ago, who died in the month of October, 1745. He earned an immense popularity in Ireland by his denunciation in his "Draper's Letters" of the patriot right granted to William Wood to coin debased farthings and half-pence for Ireland. A reward of 300 pounds ($1500) was offered for the author of these famous letters and a bill against the printer was about to be presented to the grand jury when the following quotation from the Scripture was circulated in Dublin:
And the people said unto Saul, shall Jonathan die, who hath wrought this great salvation in Israel? God forbid, as the Lord liveth, there shall not cut off half of his head fall to the ground; for he hath wrought with God this day. So the people rescued Jonathan and he died not.
Probably no quotation from the Scripture was ever more aptly applied to modern politics than this, and it should also be noted that in that day, as in after years and in the present, the Irish were not so partial to their own religion if he was a Catholic as the English. Through the churchman of the English the Catholics are in the majority in Ireland, they show the greater tolerance towards the minority even to the extent of giving them more than their proportionate share of the public offices.—Exchange.

HELD UNION SERVICE

Thanksgiving Meeting at Pawtucket Church

A union service including the Congregational, Unitarian and Universalist churches was held at the Pawtucket Congregational church yesterday morning. Rev. A. F. Dunneis of the Highland church read the president's proclamation and the choir sang Maker's anthem, "Praise the Lord."

The sermon, preached by the Rev. E. J. Newcomb, from the text found in Deuteronomy, 32:19, "The Lord your God hath given you this land to possess it," was in part as follows:
Believe that as God was good to Israel, as God had given to Israel the promised land, and goodly land, so God has been good to America. God has been even better to America than to Israel.
If it was necessary for the people of Israel to look into the past, in order that they might have courage and inspiration for the future, it is also true in the experience of America that we, even of this generation, must understand and appreciate the past, else we are not truly thankful.
I think of our own land, away back to the time when the Pilgrim fathers landed upon these shores, away back to the time when the temple was erected at Jerusalem—away back to the time when the great pyramids were erected in Egypt—there were the storehouses here in our own land, full to overflowing with the gifts of God, the gold and silver and the precious stones, and for the days that were to come, the mountains, the rivers and the forests, all merely waiting, monuments which would bless the coming generations.

"This, then, is God's great gift. As the children of Israel looked into the promised land which they had not entered, so the children of America looked into the future which they had not yet approached, but which opened up to them the treasures of God.
"The land of promise is always a land of conquest. We find sometimes that the spirit of conquest has been an evil spirit. But we must understand that the evil spirit is only temporary. We rejoice in the spirit of conquest which we achieve in the name of God and of his son Jesus Christ.
"It is not sufficient to glory in the achievements of the past; we must endeavor to achieve in our day and generation. Build up, upon the foundations of those who have lived and wrought and built before.
"No nation has a nobler history or a greater promise than our own country. We must understand that we are the individuals of which this country is made up, and the supreme test of our worthiness is found in the degree of our appreciation. Do we believe, as did our fathers, that this country is not only for us but for our posterity? Are we living out the principles of the Pilgrim Fathers to such an extent that others will rejoice in what we have achieved?
"We should look upon Thanksgiving, not merely as a time to eat and drink, but as a time to thank God for his abundant blessings.
After the sermon, the choir of the church sang Spence's setting of "I Will Magnify Thee, O Lord," which concludes with the hymn, "All Praise Be to Thee, O God, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit, Amen." The benediction was pronounced by Rev. E. J. Newcomb.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Opera House
Avis Paige and company presented "Out in Idaho" at the Opera House yesterday afternoon and last evening, to very large audiences.

The piece is in four acts, with a prologue, and there is plenty of life to it throughout. Miss Paige, as the heroine, who started the play under a shadow, but who emerged to the light of everybody in the final act, is well fitted for roles of this sort and she is supported by a clever company. Miss Paige and her company will give four more performances here. This afternoon and tonight, "Hazel Kiser" will be given, and on Saturday afternoon and on Sunday morning, "The Daughter of the Desert" will be the offering. Matinee prices are 10 and 20 cents, while the evening prices are 10, 20 and 30 cents.

THE TAYLOR STOCK CO.
A week of popular priced melodrama with a change of play every day will be the offering at the Taylor Stock Company next week. The Taylor Stock Company will be the attraction and the plays to be seen are well known royalty plays that will be presented with special scenery carried by the company. For the opening play Monday night the military comedy drama, "The Arizona Cavalry," will be given, which is such a play as "The Old Clothes Man," "The Blind Girl," "Deserted at the Altar," "Oliver Twist," "Recreation," "The Seven Dials Detective," and others. The popular comedian, Harry Moore, heads the company.

The Playhouse
The offering announced by Kendall Weston for next week at the Playhouse will be "Sherlock Holmes," a story founded on incidents in the life of Conan Doyle's famous character. The piece will be produced from the original manuscript, and should give entire satisfaction. Photos of Mr. Howard Stryker will be shown on Monday night and Tuesday afternoon to all women occupying orchestra seats.

Merrimack Square Theatre
There are all sorts of voodoo bills of course, but it would be difficult to find a better balanced, more varied program than is being presented at the Merrimack Square theatre this week. Eugene Powers Co., presenting "Helping Him Out," is the "big" act. Mr. Powers is clever and is supported by a competent company. Jane Elton is an entertaining comedienne. "Smith, Brown & Sumerton," a farce with music, and James Colman, complete the vaudeville offerings, and there is an excellent collection of pictures.

At First Baptist Church.
Rev. B. R. Harris, pastor of the Paige street church, was the speaker at a grand Thanksgiving service at the First Baptist church yesterday, which was participated in by members of the Baptist churches of Lowell and the surrounding towns. The subject of the sermon by Rev. Mr. Harris was "Praise and glorification of the Lord."

The church quartet rendered several beautiful selections during the service under the direction of Thomas Wardell. Wilfred Kershaw was the organist. On the platform were seated Rev. Asa Reed Ellis, pastor of the Unitarian church; Rev. Frederick Macdonald, pastor of the Fifth Street Baptist church; Rev. C. H. Ellis, pastor of the Chelmsford Centre Baptist church; and Rev. Benjamin B. Harris, pastor of the Paige Street church. The service was opened by Rev. Mr. Macdonald and prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Ellis. Rev. Mr. Ellis read the governor's proclamation.

The principal address of the day was delivered by Rev. Benjamin B. Harris. He spoke of the necessity we have of praising and glorifying God, saying that here is a great difference between talking about God and talking with Him. He quoted several passages from the scripture which refer to man's duty of rendering homage and glory to the omnipotent God. In conclusion the speaker said:
"How many of us have had troubles, and how have they looked at midnight to us? We have been restless and the troubles have been magnified. But at midnight Paul and Silas commenced to pray. What was the result? An earthquake came and shook the walls of their prison and their chains were loosed. The chief end of man is to glorify God. May God keep us to spend this day in bringing glory to his blessed name!"

LOCAL CLERGYMEN KEPT BUSY

More Than Score of Marriages in This City Wednesday Night and Yesterday

Cupid was at his best Wednesday and yesterday, for over a score of weddings took place in this city in the course of the two days. Clergymen all over the city were kept busy tying the knots, while the ceremonies in most instances were followed by receptions and good observance of Thanksgiving day. November is generally a good month for marriages, but this year it is figured there were more couples united in the bonds of matrimony during Thanksgiving week than at any other time during the other 12 months, the month of June counted in.

with chiton overdress and a large picture hat, she carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums, the latest of the gift of her uncle, Mr. Thomas Poole of Southbridge. The flowers were very large and beautiful. The bridesmaid was attired in pink messaline, with chiton overdress and she wore a picture hat. She also carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums. After the ceremony a reception was held at which the happy couple were showered with congratulations and best wishes of all assembled. A wedding supper was served, after which a musical program was carried out. The couple were the recipients of many gifts, the latter being on exhibition in a large room upstairs. Gifts were received from Webster, and Boston, Mass., Wickford, R. I. and several other places. Mr. and Mrs. Small departed later in the evening and after visiting Boston and New York will be at home to their friends after January 1. They will reside in Robinson street.

MURPHY-TUCKE
A pretty wedding ceremony took place at St. John's parsonage, North Chelmsford, Wednesday afternoon, the contracting parties being Miss Martha C. Tucke of North Chelmsford and Edward P. Murphy of Lowell. Rev. Fr. Schofield performed the nuptial ceremony. The bridesmaid was Miss Mary Tucke, sister of the bride, and the best man was Robert Murphy. The bride was beautifully gowned in white silk batiste, with lace trimmings, and carried white chrysanthemums. Miss Mary Tucke wore pink silk muslin and carried pink chrysanthemums. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Tucke, on Brookfield street, followed by a supper, after which the happy couple left for Boston on their honeymoon trip, where they will be spending relatives of the bridegroom in Providence, R. I. After their return, Mr. and Mrs. Murphy will take up their residence at 171 Chapel street, Lowell, where they will be at home to their friends after January 1.

SUTCLIFFE-MCKINNON
At St. Patrick's church Wednesday afternoon the marriage of Mr. James P. Sutcliffe and Miss Jessie P. McKinnon was solemnized by Rev. Joseph Curtin. The bride wore a gown of white embroidered silk batiste. She was attended by Miss Margaret E. Lyons, who wore a gown of blue silk. The best man was Mr. Albert Sutcliffe, a brother of the bridegroom. A reception was held after the wedding ceremony at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. W. F. Lyons of 443 Broadway. During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Sutcliffe left on their wedding trip with which they will visit a sister of the bride, Mrs. John P. Ryan of Troy, N. Y., formerly Miss Katie McKinnon of the city. On their return they will be at home to their friends, after Jan. 1, at 114 Rock street.

BRYANT-TIRRELL
Miss Emmeline C. Tirrell, formerly of this city, but now of Boston, was united in marriage to Mr. Orville J. Bryant of Des Moines, Iowa, in the rectory of the cathedral of the Holy Cross, Boston, on Wednesday evening by Rev. Fr. Neal Cronin. Miss Harriette Tirrell, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and Mr. William Persell, a cousin of the bride, was best man. The bride wore a gown of white messaline with a point Venice overdress and a picture hat and carried white chrysanthemums. The bridesmaid wore Alice blue messaline and a picture hat and carried yellow chrysanthemums. The bridegroom wore a tuxedo and a white necktie of gold beads and the groom's gift to the bride was a pair of diamond cufflinks. After the ceremony the happy couple left for Boston, where they will be at home to their friends after Jan. 1. They will reside in Fall River.

MURPHY-RUSSELL
Mr. William Murphy of 223 Greendale avenue and Miss Allan T. Russell of 220 Riverside street were married Thanksgiving night by Rev. Frank J. Alger, pastor of the cathedral of the Holy Cross, at his home, 112 Vanum avenue. The bride wore a dark blue traveling gown and a white heavier hat. She was attended by Miss Esther Atkinson, a niece of the bridegroom. The best man was Mr. Charles E. Russell, a brother of the bridegroom. Immediately after the ceremony, a wedding reception was given at the home of the bridegroom's father, Mr. and Mrs. Russell, at 35 Smith street. No cards.

GORMAN-OMALLEY
At St. Michael's rectory late Wednesday afternoon Mr. Francis J. Gorman and Miss Marietta L. O'Malley were united in the bonds of matrimony, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Francis J. Mullin. The bride was attended by Miss Mary E. Durkin, while the best man was Thomas J. Gorman, brother of the bridegroom. A reception was held at the home of the bride, 135 Pleasant street, and a large number of their friends were present to offer their congratulations and well wishes. Following the reception, dinner was served. Mr. and Mrs. Gorman left on an early train for their wedding tour and on their return will reside at 135 Pleasant street, Braintree, where they will be at home to their friends after Jan. 1, 1913.

DRAPER-MATNARD
Mr. Herbert Draper and Miss Nellie Matnard were married Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's mother, Myron Matnard, 65 Norcross street, the officiating clergyman being Rev. J. M. Craig. The bridesmaid was Miss Bessie Blake, while the best man was George M. Matnard. The ushers were Alden and Ivy Barris and Clarence Bachelder. The rooms were attractively decorated in greens, potted

This is what Your Father Did to Get a REAL Smoke

Your father sliced each pipeful fresh from his plug. It took only a minute and he got a real smoke.

Master Workman Tobacco has all the natural moisture pressed into the leaf, and held there by a natural leaf wrapper. This makes Master Workman the freshest, sweetest, coolest tobacco you ever smoked.

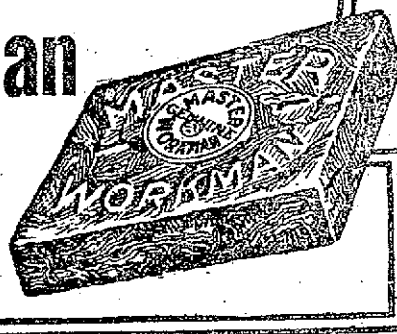

No tobacco sliced, or granulated at the factory, can hold its original moisture and flavor while waiting for your pipe. Chopped-up tobacco is bound to get dry—smoke hot—and bite your tongue.

If you think this only "advertising talk" cut off a pipeful of Master Workman and let the tobacco prove its truthfulness. You will find, for the first time, what the natural flavor of tobacco IS.

COLD REASON "CUTS ICE"

In Buying Your Piano

And cold reason used in the buying of your piano is the one thing and the only thing that "cuts any ice." We don't boom any special piano and don't care what make of piano you buy. We have all makes. We would like you to use your reason in the matter of PRICE; there's where your reasoning powers will "cut ice" for you. You know, without any information from us, which are the best pianos, and you also know that the makers at their gilded stores charge you a big, fat, outrageous trust price for their instruments. Now, if you use your cold reason on PRICE, we will save you a hundred or two on the purchase of any known make of piano.

The gilded piano stores, with their costly appointments, their high-salaried sales agents, their sellers' commissions, etc., are no place for the economical piano buyer to go. Take the trouble to look around a little, go up where the rents are not so high and buy your piano right.

NOTICE No matter what make of Piano you are thinking of buying, get the Roxbury Piano Storage Salesrooms Co.'s price on the same instrument first.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO PIANO DEALERS! No pianos will be sold to dealers or makers for a less price than marked for public sale. Each piano is marked a selling price to cover expenses, and in no case can a maker or dealer get a lower price than an individual. This applies to a dealer's or manufacturer's own make or any other make.

Your old Piano, Organ, Phonograph, Typewriter, Furniture, Desks, Jewelry or anything else of value taken as part payment.

Free Stool, Scarf and Tuning for two years with privilege of exchange any time.

We want you to know that we charge you no interest if you pay for your piano as you agree. In case of sickness or loss of work we do not look for payments. In case of death we give a clear bill of sale to relatives, no matter how little has been paid. We do everything within reason to have all our customers satisfied and we intend to locate here permanently.

The Comfort and Economy of Tourist Sleeping Cars in Traveling to the Pacific Coast

I would like to explain to you, just what a Tourist Sleeping car is, what conveniences and comforts they have, and how you can save money by joining one of our through parties, which go to the coast every week in one of these cars, escorted by a special conductor, employed by the "Burlington Route" to look after your comfort. For many years the Burlington Route Personally Conducted Excursions to California have been widely known for the excellence of the service provided, and the character of the employees in charge. The whole idea of these parties is to provide a way for people, of moderate means, to make the California trip comfortably and in thoroughly good hands, and at the same time at an expense that is not prohibitive. Please call at the office or write a postal will do. Alex. Stocks, New England Passenger Agent, C. B. & Q. R. R., 264 Washington street, Boston, Mass.

BOWELS SLUGGISH, LIVER TORPID, HEADACHY, BILIOUS?—"CASCARETS"

No odds how bad your liver, stomach or bowels; how much your head aches; how miserable and uncomfortable you are from constipation, indigestion, biliousness and sluggish intestines—you always get the desired results with Cascarets.

Clean your stomach, liver and bowels tonight; end the headache, biliousness, dizziness, nervousness, sick, sour, gassy stomach, backache and all other distress; relieve your torpid liver and constipated bowels of all the sour bile, gases and clogged-up waste which is producing the misery.

A 10-cent box of Cascarets keeps your head clear, stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular and you feel cheerful and buoyant for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle, cleansing, too.

CARDINAL O'CONNELL'S WARNING

To Young Men Against Handicaps of City Life—Tells Men to Form True Standard

BROCKTON, Nov. 29.—Beacon Hill and Fifth avenue become a spelt and fetid to the imaginations of too many city-bred lads. Cardinal O'Connell Wednesday night told a crowded gathering of Plymouth county Catholics at a reception tendered him in Blake hall.

To the clear minds, strong bodies and unswerving judgments of country-bred folk the Catholic church looks and feels her greatest strength, as the country looks and feels her greatest leaders, the cardinal said.

"Just one year ago today," he said, "occurred the public consistory at which the Holy Father deigned to create me a cardinal of holy church. Today, therefore, is the first anniversary of that historic event, and I have come to celebrate it with you."

"I fear that at times you may be led to imagine that because of your distance from the centre of the See you have lost a share in our watchful care and fatherly anxiety, but believe me, nothing could be farther from the truth."

"There is a tendency perhaps among those who inhabit the smaller towns and rural districts to undervalue their own importance."

"Now the country-bred boy knows little and cares less for all these artificial standards. He knows a fine house and a good man when he sees them, and he puts his own value upon both, but the estimate is his own, not suggested nor dictated by a myth."

"He is willing to believe that his neighbor at work is of superior class, when that neighbor by his deeds has proven it, but only then. He will find many a strong and good man who is delicately reared. And he will respect him not because of the name of his street, or his club, or his college, but because he is a square fellow."

"The cardinal said that the country-bred boy knows little and cares less for all these artificial standards. He knows a fine house and a good man when he sees them, and he puts his own value upon both, but the estimate is his own, not suggested nor dictated by a myth."

ACROSS FROM CITY HALL

FEAST OF THE "ORPHANS"

A Big Spread at the Waverly Hotel

Mr. John C. McLaughlin, the warm-hearted manager of the Waverly hotel, yesterday, was the host of about half a dozen "orphans." The "orphans" in this case were some of Mr. McLaughlin's friends who, being in a position where it was not possible to eat their Thanksgiving dinner in their own homes were invited by him to spend the afternoon at his hotel and there dine with him. And, to use a phrase due to the day, it was "some dinner." No doubt the "orphans" had in their day sat down to many a mighty good Thanksgiving dinner; dinners which they had eaten in places scattered between the land of the Maple Leaf and that of the Central American republics—a few of them have seen a little of the world—but as they all expressed it, never had they partaken of so enjoyable a meal as that tendered them yesterday by Mr. McLaughlin.

The spread was fit for kings and, indeed, this does not properly describe it, for as some one has aptly remarked, it was a feast fit for a king, a matter of delicious food but it was a happy combination of good cheer and sincere friendship which makes the heart glow and feel good will toward all the world. This was the kind of a feast which the "orphans" enjoyed at the Waverly hotel.

In some of Dickens' novels many no doubt will recall his description of one or another dinner partaken of by his noted characters when away from their own firesides and staying over a night at some English hostelry. These, if not merely a matter of reminiscence, were recalled, stories were sun—all was good fellowship and friendly feeling. Well, those gatherings were not a whit more pleasant nor the company more congenial, nor the windows there not more sunny than the windows of the "orphans" at the dinner of Mr. McLaughlin's "orphans."

It was surely a pleasant scene which as years slip by will be recalled with greater and greater pleasure as memory invests it with all the attractiveness that envelops the distant past.

After the crackers and cheese had been finished the "orphans" lay back in their chairs and, through the wreaths of smoke that curled from their perfectoes, related former Thanksgiving experiences and lingered over anecdotes of the good times they had enjoyed in years gone by. Through the windows there could be seen the white flakes dropping from the sky; about the table glistened the soft crimson lights from the electric lamps; throughout the cosy dining room quietness prevailed. Possibly, who knows, a picture crept into the mind of one of the "orphans" of some former Thanksgiving day; a picture of a table covered with "goodies" that go with that feast; of sisters and brothers enjoying the turkey and fixins; of father awkwardly carving a wing from the plump bird; of mother passing around the "helpings" with the loving smile which only mother can bestow.

But if such a trend of thought happened to wander through the mind of any of the "orphans" it followed the smoke wreaths, disappearing into nothingness, and in its place returned the real picture that was before them. They sat Mr. McLaughlin with his kindly, friendly smile; then the other "orphans" laughing and talking and passing the time in the most companionable spirit imaginable. "Thankful? Why should not the 'orphans' be thankful? Thankful for the comradeship of their fellows; for the kindly friendship of their host; for the opportunity of their being together."

The orphans were thankful and, down deep in their hearts they thanked Mr. McLaughlin a thousand times for his kindly hospitality. Toasts were offered and the most impressive, perhaps of them all was spoken by a boy

MANY VISITORS HERE YESTERDAY

Former Lowell People Called on Home Folks—Trains and Electric Cars Crowded

All trains coming and going from this city yesterday and today were crowded with people, the heavy traveling being due to the fact that many were visiting their home towns for the Thanksgiving holidays. Many former Lowell people were here yesterday. The 7.21 last night conveyed many from the city of splendor. Many visitors were also in town as guests of Lowell families.

This morning, many who stayed over left the depot on the different trains and especially large was the crowd that boarded the 10.49 train out of here which was twenty-five minutes late. The delay was caused by the heavy traveling from the north. All the trains coming from up north were literally packed before reaching Lowell, and several extra cars were attached in this city.

The railroad freight business continues to be very brisk, and the N. Y. N. H. and Hartford freight house on Maple street is working as it never worked before. Here the business has increased rapidly and at the present time, the employees are obliged to do considerable night work to cope with the increased business.

A crew of section men is at work today laying new planks on the canal bridge in the rear of the Armour company on Fletcher street. The older supports were rather dilapidated and were considered dangerous for the yard men. The repair work is progressing rapidly, and will be completed in a few days.

The electric cars also did a good business yesterday, inasmuch as many former Lowell people came home to spend the holidays, and living nearby, made satisfactory time on the electric cars. During the entire day yesterday, Merrimack Square was the scene of considerable activity.

MRS. ROUNDS GETS $1000 ALIMONY

A Number of Divorce Cases
Were Heard by Judge
Pratt Today

Judge Nathan D. Pratt, presiding at the divorce session of the superior court, this morning decreed that William H. Rounds, local photographer, pay alimony in the sum of $1000 to his wife, Fanny R. Rounds of Chelmsford.

Mr. and Mrs. Rounds were married on Oct. 10, 1905, and Mrs. Rounds alleged that her husband deserted her in March, 1908. She brought suit and on Nov. 20th a decree nisi was entered in favor of the petitioner and she was also given the custody of her minor child.

The matter of alimony was left to Melvin C. Rogers, counsel for the libellant, and Francis W. Qua, counsel for the libellee, and they agreed on the sum of $1000 gross alimony.

Mrs. Hilma E. Hoganson, evidently married the wrong member of the Hogland family when she was wedded to Karl P. for shortly after the marriage she appeared to be more affectionate to his brother, John S., and later, it is said, went to live with the brother, who was named as correspondent in the divorce case heard this morning.

The couple was married in Stockholm, Sweden on June 2, 1901, and subsequently resided in Boston and Cambridge. A decree nisi was granted and the libellant was given the custody of his minor children.

Garfield Clarke of Somerville was united in marriage to Lulu Clark, otherwise known as "Lola Perry" at Sumner, N. H., on December 22, 1904, but after living together for a short time she deserted him. A decree nisi was granted.

Mrs. Ira M. Nourse of Stoneham, testified that during her married life her husband, Morton E. Nourse, was cruel and abusive to her and she desired to be separated from him. The court after hearing the testimony granted a decree nisi, gave the libellant the custody of her minor child and ordered that the libellee pay her the sum of $6 each week.

A decree nisi, and custody of her minor children, was granted to Mrs. Gertrude M. Springer of Somerville, who was married to Philip M. Springer on Nov. 10, 1893.

A decree nisi was also granted in the case of Cecelia Blanch Leach, colored, of Cambridge, from Joseph Joshua Leach, also colored, on statutory grounds.

Decrees nisi were granted in the following cases: Johanna Monson, libellant, vs. Jens Monson, libellee, of Woburn, Montana; description.

Justin H. Underwood, libellant, vs. John vs. Ross Underwood, libellee, description.

Etta J. Miller, libellant, vs. Charles W. Miller, libellee, description.

Jennie A. Fletcher, libellant, vs. William Fletcher, libellee; description.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin H. Maguire, formerly of this city, now of North Attleboro, visited their parents in Lowell yesterday.

Harlow Bigelow and G. W. Bigelow of Augusta, Me., are in this city, having been called here because of the death of their brother, George M. Bigelow.

SERVIANS OCCUPY POSITIONS NEAR TOWN OF SEMENDRIA

Greek Squadron Occupies a Turkish Island—The Austro-Hungarian Reservists Called Home

VIENNA, Nov. 29.—The assertion that Servia is mobilizing against Austria-Hungary is made today by the Hethpost. The entrenched positions near the town of Semendria on the Danube have been occupied already by Servian troops of the Danube division. The Servian recruits belonging to the contingents due to be called up in 1913 and 1914 have been called out by the Servian war office and Christian prisoners among the Turkish troops captured are being induced to serve in the Servian army.

The weapons captured from the Turks are being hurriedly repaired in the great Servian arsenal at Aradjevat, and ammunition is being manufactured in large quantities. Cattle and cereals are being requisitioned by the Servian war office and taken to the Servian army.

The recent visits exchanged between Count von Berchtold, the Austrian-Hungarian foreign minister and the Egyptian prince, Ahmed Fund, who is an Albanian by descent are regarded by the Zeitungs indications that the prince is a serious candidate for the Albanian throne.

AUSTRO-HUNGARIAN RESERVISTS ORDERED TO RETURN TO THEIR HOMES

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 29.—The Austro-Hungarian reservists residing in the Baltic provinces have been summoned to return to their homes in Austria and Hungary, according to a despatch from Riga to the Reich. The German reservists living in these provinces number 5000 and those also have been warned to hold themselves in readiness to be called up to join their regiments at any moment.

The Austrian and German consulates at Kiev are guarded by strong forces of police.

An attempt was made by a body of students to organize a demonstration outside of Austria-Hungary's embassy in St. Petersburg, but was frustrated by the authorities.

An enthusiastic scene was witnessed last evening in the Imperial Marinsky theatre during a performance given in behalf of the Servians and Bulgarians at which most of the Russian ministers, including the premier, were present. When the national anthems of Bulgaria and Servia were played by the orchestra the audience rose and cheered to the echo.

WESTERN GREEK SQUADRON HAS OCCUPIED THE TURKISH ISLAND OF SASSENOL

LONDON, Nov. 29.—The western Greek squadron today occupied the Turkish island of Sassenol in the Adriatic sea near Avalona, according to despatch from Athens today.

THE SERBIAN TROOPS CAPTURED THE TOWN OF DIBRA IN ALBANIA

BELGRADE, Servia, Nov. 29.—The Servian troops captured the town of Dibra in Albania only after a desperate encounter with the Turkish troops who had rallied there after their retreat from Monastir and had been joined by contingents of Mallisori and Arnaout tribesmen.

With the capture of Dibra the whole of Macedonia has been subdued.

FUNERALS

AMVOT—The funeral of Mrs. Eugene Amyot took place this morning from her home, 12 Sladen street, Deduit. High mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Louis church at 9 o'clock by Rev. R. A. Fortier. The choir was under the direction of Mr. Oliver J. David. Miss Ida Monaghan presiding at the organ. The bearers were Charles Paille, Joseph Ouellette, Joseph Marquis and Narcisse Desmarais. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Archambault.

TWO HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Furniture Truck Crashed Into
Tree on Middlesex Street
This Afternoon

A large automobile truck loaded with furniture, crashed into a tree on Middlesex street near the power house this afternoon and two of the occupants of the machine were injured. The injured men, who were on the truck at the time of the accident are Benjamin Price and Harry McClung. The former was bruised about the head and the latter had his left leg injured. The ambulance was summoned but the men refused to be removed.

They were later taken care of by a physician. As far as can be learned, the machine was moving at a fair rate of speed, when it suddenly skidded and struck the tree. There were three men riding on the seat of the machine and all were thrown to the ground. Price struck his head against the tree, while McClung was pinned up against the tree. Both were immediately attended to and were soon able to be removed. The front end of the truck was badly smashed up.

HELD UNION SERVICES

Big Meeting at the Centerville M.E. Church

Union services attended by members of the Methodist Episcopal, Primitive Methodist and First Presbyterian churches were held at the Centerville M. E. church yesterday morning. Rev. James M. Craig, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, was the preacher. He took his text from the 33rd Psalm, "Thou art the nation whose God is Jehovah." In part, he said:

"No nation ever faced such opportunities or responsibilities as face this nation today. The purpose of God seems to have been to place this nation in its present place and failure to meet God's plans will be because of the negligence of the people."

"Like cures produce like results. If Rome, Greece and Babylonian perished, caused the same result follow here. False fundamental principles have swept away nations in the past. This country needs more than schools, colleges and universities. Arts and sciences have not saved nations of the past. We need to solve in this mighty nation of ours the problem of establishing a Christian civilization. We must have not only the external principles of morality. We need to live in our lives, the life and principles of Jesus Christ. It is commanded to us to become the greatest nation of the globe. To fulfil this command we must establish the conviction that there is a God and that it is only when we honor God and make Jehovah our God that we will make a nation that shall never perish."

MANY LOWELL TEACHERS

Attend Meeting of Mass. Teachers' Association

The 25th annual meeting of the Massachusetts Teachers' Association was held in Huntington hall in Boston today, and a large delegation of Lowell teachers was present.

The morning session was opened by Rev. George C. Lewis of Hingham, who read the announcements of future events. "The Larger View of the Department of Education," was the subject of a lecture given by Franklin B. Dyer, superintendent of the Boston schools. President David S. Luther of Quincy college, also addressed the body. Dr. H. H. Home of New York University spoke on "Educational Faith."

Following the lecture the business of the meeting was taken up and reports were read by the secretary and treasurer and the chairman of the different committees.

The afternoon session commenced at 2 o'clock and featured Mrs. McAndrew of New York city who gave a very interesting lecture on "The Increasing Value of the Teaching Profession." Prof. H. H. Home of New York University spoke on "Educational Faith."

Dr. Charles W. Eliot, the president emeritus of Harvard university, was the principal lecturer of the day. His subject was "The University in the Community and Practical in Modern Education." This address closed the program of the convention.

ETTOR GROWS VIOLENT IN SPEECH

Tells Workers Not to Give Thanks
But Send Curses to Heaven—
Capitalists Denounced

LAWRENCE, Nov. 29.—The members of the I. W. W. met on the Dump at 2 o'clock. About 1000 were assembled when Ettore arrived. Standing on an old wagon which had been drawn down onto the lot he threw off his hat and walking back and forth, gestulating freely, talked for almost 2 hours. The crowd about him was constantly augmented. The windows in the tenement houses facing on the lot were filled with faces. Despite the severe cold scarcely a person left until he ended his discourse. When he had finished bouquets were showered upon him and one Italian mother pressed forward and stretching forth her arms, handed him a week-old baby, asking him to kiss it.

"I'm going to call it Ettore," she said to him.

In his long speech, Ettore said: "Today, in the city of Lawrence, thanks are being given to the Lord on high. But the real thanks should be given to the lord of industry, to the humble laborers, who, by their energy, their labor, their very blood, make what there is to be thankful for."

"Today, in this city, the politicians,

the ex-convicts, the pillars of the law, the pillars of society, and the pillars of order are going to meet to give thanks. Not to those to whom thanks is due, thought; not to the workers who make the wheels of industry run; those men will not assemble to give thanks to the lord of industry. And a justice of the supreme court has lined himself up with the band of so-called patriots.

"Let me ask you a question: $5 a week slaves, $7 a week slaves, what thanks have you to offer, to present, today? We have not thanks, only curses, and we will shout out our curses until they reach the heavens. We have no thanks.

"The workers have sacrificed 45,000 victims—that many lives have been burned out in the mills, shattered and broken in the factories—to lubricate the wheels which grind out more wealth for the idle at the expense of the working class. When the workers protest they are clubbed, bayoneted and jailed that their blood may be used as a balm to assuage and heal the wounds of a master class.

"One class knows no happiness. One class revels and wallows in it.

"And a supreme court justice joins in company with Mickey Scanlon, ex-bankrupt and so-called preacher, to give thanks that children of God produce everything for the capitalist class, which too lazy to wash its own face. The kidnappers of children from the schools give thanks to the Lord.

"But the dream of labor will come true. And we will not need shotguns, we will not need to plant dynamite. We will just have to stop working and the capitalist class will freeze and starve to death. We are the life and the maiming of the world. When we labor the world goes round. When we stop the world stops.

"The button of the laboring class will be as the cross an emblem of the oppressed. The button will show the adherents of the prosecuted class. And the dream of today is the religion of the next day."

Sufferers From Hemorrhoids Greatly Pleased

SCIENTIFIC YET SIMPLE HOME TREATMENT THAT GIVES IMMEDIATE RELIEF AND SUBSEQUENTLY CONQUERS THIS PAINFUL DISEASE

The world moves forward. Today the greatest physicians realize that Hemorrhoids or Piles must be treated both internally and externally in order to subdue them.

Pharmacists in Lowell and vicinity are attracted by the completeness of what is known as the ENGLISH HEMORRHOID TREATMENT and they do not hesitate to keep a supply on hand for the benefit of sufferers of Hemorrhoids. They know there will be a constant demand.

Physicians as well as Druggists willingly recommend the ENGLISH HEMORRHOID TREATMENT, because they know from the formula printed on each box that it is a treatment of great merit.

The ENGLISH HEMORRHOID TREATMENT, the formula of a New York Physician, consists of a supply of soothing, healing suppositories, a box of capillary ointment, a box of constitutional tablets, which quickly put the system in proper condition to respond to the internal and external application; a diet sheet, rules of health, and complete and simple instructions that anyone can easily understand. Separate boxes of each remedy may be obtained as wanted, at 50 cents each.

A pamphlet which explains all about Hemorrhoids can be obtained at druggists or direct from the ENGLISH PHARMACAL LABORATORIES, INC., No. 121 Broadway, New York.

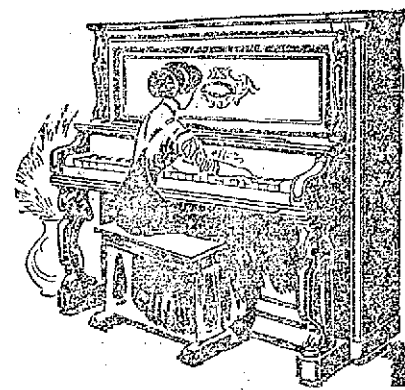

Be sure and ask your druggist about ENGLISH HEMORRHOID TREATMENT. It is the only thorough treatment that can be used in your own home and if it does not accomplish all that is claimed for it, after a fair trial, of course, your druggist will return your money. We guarantee satisfaction.

Using the "Movies" to Fight Tuberculosis is the Latest Plan That Has Been Adopted

SCENES IN THE ANTI-TUBERCULOSIS MOVING PICTURE PLAY
Upper—In Bellevue hospital clinic; Wells and Harvey learn Edith's address. Lower—Edith consults her family doctor

Can you imagine a more effective moving picture show? The propaganda of spreading before the public the means of the warfare on the "white" gospel of fresh air and the need of "plague" could not think of one, so they funds for fighting tuberculosis than made arrangements for tolling visitors of the picture shows how best to guard themselves and their beloved ones.

Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis got a well known author, James Oppenheim, poet and writer of stories, to tell in a simple moving picture scenario, or story, a tale of a successful fight against a case of tuberculosis. Then the association employed the actors and actresses of a well known company to pose before the camera, so that their doings were recorded on the narrow strips of film. The company is to supply the film to the agencies, and these in turn will supply it to the exhibitors.

A feature of the exhibition of the anti-tuberculosis moving picture play is the impetus given to the sale of the Red Cross seals, or stamps, by means of which funds are raised each year, before and during the holiday season, for the warfare on consumption. The seals, which cost a cent apiece, are affixed to letters and other mail matter.

The title of the play and its leading note is "Hope." The story, as portrayed by Mr. Oppenheim, tells of a young banker in a little New York town. His name is John Harvey, and he has a bookkeeper named Wells, with whose daughter, Edith, Harvey is in love. A few weeks before the holiday season Harvey is asked to engage in a tuberculosis campaign in his town, to form a committee to sell Red Cross Christmas seals and to work for the erection of a local sanitarium. He shows the material to his old bookkeeper, and the two men laugh at the idea that a country district need engage in such a fight. Careless and unthinking, Wells puts some of the pamphlets in his pocket and forgets the incident.

Meanwhile, Edith is trying hard to conceal from her father and lover the annoying cough which she has developed and also the knowledge given her privately by the old family physician that she has tuberculosis. She struggles hard against her love for Harvey and her father, especially when the banker shows her the new home which he is building for them. She is about resolved not to yield to the doctor's advice recommending that she go to a sanitarium, when one evening she accidentally discovers the tuberculosis literature in her father's pocket.

As she reads of the dangers to which she is exposing those whom she loves, and of the hope of a cure that may be hers if she will go to a sanitarium she finally conquers her immediate desire and resolves to live for health and a cure. She writes a note to her father and to Harvey, releasing him from their engagement, and leaves home secretly for New York to see what chance she has of being cured.

It is not a difficult task to persuade Edith to go home and take the cure in the sanitarium. Here she recovers her health, and as an indication of her future mode of life on entering her new home for the first time, a happy bride, she throws the windows wide open to let in the fresh air.

LOWELL HIGH CLOSES SEASON

Played Tie Game With Rock Ridge—Alumni Game Postponed—Other Sports

The members of the sporting fraternity of this city observed the holiday in a fitting manner yesterday. The outdoor programs were somewhat hampered by the inclement weather, but nevertheless those who did brave the storm enjoyed the games. The indoor sports were well patronized and the day was ideal for bowling, roller skating and shooting pool. The bowling alleys were well occupied during the entire day, and several interesting matches were rolled. The skating and shooting pool were crowded at both afternoon and evening sessions and the pool parlors were the objective points for many.

At the armory there was an interesting series of games, and the militia-men had a most enjoyable day. The unpropitious weather, but this battle will be pulled off tomorrow. Several amateur football games scheduled for yesterday were called off temporarily.

Football Stars Here

The graduates of the Lowell and Lawrence high schools who were to have composed the football eleven planned to determine supremacy on Washington park yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The game was postponed until Saturday because of the snow storm.

This struggle should prove to be fast and interesting for all followers of the game in this vicinity are aware of the fact that both Lowell and Lawrence turned out very strong teams in the past years.

A Tie Game

The Rock Ridge Hall school played an unusually good game against the Lowell high school yesterday at Washington park. The game was the last one of the season and a large Thanksgiving crowd was present. One of the principal features of the contest was the playing of Leggat, of the visitors who is a Lowell boy, and for several years was one of the stars of the Lowell eleven. The final score of the contest was 7 to 7. Cawley making the touchdown for Lowell and Ambrose making the "counter" for Rock Ridge.

The Lowell team played a fast game and only for a blocked punt in the third period the score would have been 7 to 0. During this play Lowell by line plunging and formations managed to get the ball on Rock Ridge's three yard line. Cawley then tried to punt but his kick was blocked by Ambrose of Rock Ridge who fell on the ball behind the goal posts. Campbell then kicked the goal.

passed, which delayed him, and when the ball was kicked it was blocked by Rock Ridge; and Ambrose of that team fell on it for a touchdown, Campbell then kicked the goal, making the score a tie, 7 to 7.

During the final period Lowell played a fast game, outclassing the visitors, but the ball was not at any time very near the goal. Cawley made the touchdown, which was the only one of the game. The lineup:

Score: Lowell, 7; Rock Ridge, 7. Touchdowns: Cawley, Ambrose. Goals from touchdowns: Cawley, Campbell. Referee: E. J. Mahoney. Head line-man: Mahoney. Time: Four 10-minute periods.

BOWLING NEWS

On the Crescent alleys last night two six men teams representing the Boston and Lowell deaf mutes, bowled an interesting candle pin game. The Lowell boys proved a little too strong for the visitors, the former winning the second and third strings and the total McGrewer of the visiting team was the high man of the evening, bowling a three string total of 285.

The Married Men and the Single Men had at it on the Crescent alleys last night and the "ladies" landed the "free agents" a terrible beating. The "ladies" took the first and third strings and won the total by the small margin of seven pins.

The Pawtucket Blues defeated the L. O. M. in the final Bridgman alleys yesterday, the former taking three points.

Score:
Married Men: Estabrook, 252; Trainer, 252; Cullinan, 209; McMahon, 252; Mitchell, 208; Nichols, 215. Total, 1584.
Single Men: Gilligan, 294; Knapton, 297; Farrell, 207; Johnson, 257; Kelley, 220. Total, 1478.

Pawtucket Blues: Callahan, 255; Hart, 241; Warren, 253; Shuchman, 273; Swift, 237. Total, 1259.

WOLGAST LOSES TITLE

He Fouled Ritchie in the 16th Round

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—Ad Wolgast, lightweight champion pugilist, lost his title to Willie Ritchie yesterday in the 16th round of their fight at Daly City. In that round Wolgast fouled Ritchie twice and Referee James Griffin awarded the fight to Ritchie. Wolgast, however, was already a beaten man. His eyes were glazed, his legs shaky, his whole body tottering.

At the end of the fight came after those at the ringside had noticed in the 15th round that Wolgast's strength seemed waning somewhat. At the beginning of the 16th the boys faced each other with Ritchie confidently carrying the fight to his opponent.

Wolgast looked worried. His face had lost the sneering smile it wore in the earlier rounds. Ritchie made him wince with a two-handed to the body, and then shot a crushing right squarely to the jaw.

Wolgast fell against the ropes, then retreated toward his corner. Ritchie crowded him, and as Wolgast raised his head Ritchie right crossed him and Wolgast fell sprawling.

The official timekeeper, George Harting, who has been counting out champions for 27 years, began to toll off the seconds. At the count of four, Wolgast, very groggy, got up and came toward his antagonist.

But Ritchie could not stand in the finishing onslaught.

Two Fouts in Succession

Only 21 seconds remained of the round. Ritchie, near his own corner, made ready for the right cross again, when Wolgast's left struck him low. Hundreds of voices raised the cry of "foul foul" and Referee Griffin cautioned Wolgast.

In another instant the left glove of Wolgast struck low again. Ritchie tried to fight back, but was plainly in distress.

Referee Griffin rushed between the two fighters, pushed Wolgast aside and raised Ritchie's hand in token of victory. The crowd at the ringside cheered him and hundreds rushed to shake hands when he left the ring. Ritchie was taken to a bathhouse, and Wolgast went to the Ocean Beach training quarters immediately after the fight.

CAN SEE ENTIRE FIELD

Clark Says Bench Manager Has Advantage

Fred Clarke, manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, recently answered the critics who tried to show him that his place during the games was on the coaching lines and that he should be out there all the time. He asserted—and there is reason in what he says—that the man who is directing a team can keep in far closer touch with his men from the bench than on the coaching lines.

On the lines he can see only part of the field, and his attention is taken up closely with one or two men on the bags. He is unable to pay much attention to the opposition, for he is generally held responsible if a blunder is made by a runner. On the bench the pilot can see the entire field and has time to think about what must be done.

Fans have more than once called managers quitters because they were out coaching when their team was ahead, and then retired to the bench as soon as the situation became critical or their team fell behind. As a matter of fact, the leaders were not quitting in any sense of the word, but were retreating to devote themselves exclusively to the task of trying to figure out a better defense or an improved attack, leaving the less important role of coach to some of their lieutenants.

It is a fact that many players lack initiative and seldom make a move that is not suggested to them. How often have you seen a man at bat glance toward the bench after each pitch? The batsman is awaiting a signal upon which will depend his next move.

Signs and signals are part of the national game. Some teams have them down to a finer point than others, but no aggregation gets along without them. Often movements on the part of a coach which seem foolish to the spectators are the part of a well formulated system of signals which is of vast importance. The signals must be simple, because they must be grasped and thoroughly understood by every member of the team, and yet they must be such as cannot be "stolen" by the opposition.

In 1911 many experts asserted that much of the success of the Athletics was due to the fact that Connie Mack made a systematic effort to learn the signals of the opposing teams. It is claimed that he assigned certain of his brainiest players to duty on the coaching lines, with instructions to watch closely every move made by rivals and report to him. It is said that he was very successful in this respect and that the knowledge which his spies gained helped the team to win the American league championship. No fault could be found with Mack's course for he did nothing which was prohibited by the rules, but simply had his men use their brains all the time and observe everything that went on around them.

HEAVING SOCCER NOTES

The heaving soccer team will travel to New Hampshire tomorrow to play the strong Manchester United team at Rock Point. The Manchester boys are now in second place in the league standing and feel confident of regaining first before the season closes. The heaving boys have a good football of late and will make trouble for the United team. The following players are requested to meet at the Boston Athletic Club, Middle Street at 1 o'clock: A. Smith, Mahon, Brinsford, Lane, Hulse, Taylor, Clegg, Mitchell, W. Kelley, Johnson, J. Kelly, W. Smith, Clegg, Langrow, Walker, Graham, Lanesman, Kennedy. Other league games Saturday, Nov. 30: Lawrence vs. Andover; Nov. 31: Manchester Blues vs. South Lawrence vs. Lawrence Olympics.

TROUBLED WITH DANDRUFF 20 YEARS

Dry Skin on Scalp. Would Show Badly on Coat Collar. Cured After Few Treatments with Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

743 Third Ave., New York, N. Y.—"Having been troubled with dandruff for twenty years and trying numerous lotions, washes, etc., without any effect, I thought I would give Cuticura Soap and Ointment a trial. The scalp always had dry skin on it which did not itch as I gave it a good brushing every morning and evening, but through the day the dandruff would show badly on my coat collar.

"I used the Cuticura Soap to shampoo my hair and rubbed in a little Cuticura Ointment. After a few treatments I found the head clean and healthy, free from all dry scales. Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured the dandruff, and now I use Cuticura to keep it from returning." (Signed) W. Dyke, Jan. 2, 1912.

For phlegm and blackheads the following is a most effective and economical treatment: Gently smear the affected parts with Cuticura Ointment, on the end of the finger, but do not rub. Wash off the Cuticura Ointment in the minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water and continue bathing for some minutes. This treatment is best on rising and retiring. At other times use Cuticura Soap freely for the toilet and bath, to assist in preventing inflammation, irritation and clogging of the pores. Sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postpaid "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

For tender-faced men should use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick, 25c. Sample free.

LUXURIOUS BAGS
Shopping bags in this autumn's importations present a most businesslike exterior. With substantial catches and boxed corners they resemble miniature gripsacks rather than the ornamental adjuncts of shopping or club costumes. For the time being, velvet and fanciful effects are forsworn.

The side of the bags betrays their frivolous purpose. One plain black bag of French pin morocco is lined with mouse colored chambray and filled with brushes, bottles, powder case, etc. The new envelope shape, about twelve inches long, has mirror, memorandum pad and powder purse in a row inside the flap. Even this extended bag has handles from the corners instead of from the top bar, as these widely separated, flexible, double strap handles have proved much more convenient to swing from the arm. One of these bags would make a nice gift.

PROPERTY OWNERS
Read With Great Interest the Remarkable Offers Made by C. B. Coburn Company
Few property owners, if any, have failed to read the advertisements of pure spirits of turpentine, pure white lead and pure linseed oil, which C. B. Coburn Co. had inserted in The Sun this week. The Coburn advertisements not only show a clear saving in their present prices of these essential painting materials, but comparing them with the market prices of last year, they show really greater reductions than one would at first imagine them to be. This should be welcome news to the property owners and householders who have from year to year been putting off painting, owing to the high prices necessarily asked, because of unfavorable conditions.

With the low prices that C. B. Coburn Co. has put upon these goods, surely property owners will want to begin painting now. Just think: They advertise a saving of 50 per cent on linseed oil, and over 60 per cent on spirits of turpentine, while the price of white lead is reduced half a cent a pound. With these available goods and the present good weather, this seems a good time to have the property painted.

LEADING SINGER DEAD

Osmond Long a Victim
of Paralysis

The many friends of Osmond Long, the well known singer, will be pained to learn of his death which occurred suddenly Wednesday evening. Deceased had been sick only a few hours, suffering from a stroke of paralysis.

Mr. Long, who conducted a book bindery at 68 Middle street, was stricken while in his office Wednesday afternoon. He was immediately removed to his home, 92 Jenner street, where he passed away a few hours later.

Deceased was born in Bradford, Eng., October 29, 1866, and has lived in Lowell for the past 21 years. He was widely known as a tenor soloist. He was a member of the Mendelssohn quartet and of the First Universalist church choir. He has always taken an active part in the musical life of this city and his demise will be keenly felt, especially in musical circles. He is survived by his wife and two daughters, Gladys and Flora, three brothers, Thomas in this country and Charles and Harry in England.

He was a member of the Thomas Talbot lodge, A. F. and A. M. of North Wilburton, and was also a 32nd degree Mason, and a member of the Sons of St. George.

Being Shipped Across
the Ocean

Isador Schlessinger of Vienna, Austria, who has probably purchased more star trotters in the United States than any other foreigner, shipped to Austria recently a string of eleven trotters, some of which will be used for racing on the other side and others for breeding purposes. Among the eleven were three low marked performers, all formerly the property of Ralph B. Williams of Boston, for whom they were raced by Lon McDonald. The Williams trio comprised Amy Brooks, 2:05 1/4; Miss Abdel, 2:09 1/4; and Lady Sealskin, 2:06 1/4. These mares of

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY $5 PANTS FREE

I renew my Free Trousers offer to every man ordering a Suit or Overcoat in my store during these two dull days following this Thanksgiving holiday.

I want my old customers to avail themselves of this opportunity—I want to see many new customers. I want to force this sale of at least 70 to 100 Suits and Overcoats.

Warm weather is keeping back orders for winter clothing, in particular Overcoats, and to brace things up and make you order in spite of this warmth, I am giving absolutely FREE a pair of trousers with each Suit or Overcoat ordered FRIDAY OR SATURDAY.

P. S. It is an old saying in business that you can't get something for nothing in this world. This rule makes some persons think I charge for Free Trousers when I give them to customers on special occasions. The belief is absolutely without foundation, in fact, I don't charge one cent extra for the Pants, and it is true you don't get them for nothing. Business is worth money to me. I have to let go to get business. I let go to the landlord. I let go to the help. I let go to the newspapers for advertising. I let go to the people, every now and then, to force them to buy and to talk about me. The only condition I impose is that you come from this advertisement and let me know it by asking for the Pants before you leave the store.

Come in, pick out the cloth you want, have my cutter measure you for Suit or Overcoat, then make your selection for the FREE PANTS, or pick them before you are measured.

THIS IS A KEYED ADVERTISEMENT. It is designed to let me know if you are following my announcements.

Mr. Williams have been in Kentucky for some time, and a number of their colts are eligible for the big futurities of a year or two hence. They were all in fact when sold to Mr. Schlessinger. Of the purchases Mr. Schlessinger made upon his present trip to the states the most important was that of the three-year-old colt Adion that Johnny Dickerson started with such success in the futurities, winning in the aggregate $5311 with him. Adion was originally to be consigned to a big New York sale, but Mr. Schlessinger happened along and, not intending to remain in this country as late as November, acquired the colt at auction sale, there being a variety of estimates as to just what was received for the three-year-old. Others that Schlessinger took over the sea at the same time included Crib Leyburn, 2:11 1/4; Marie G., 2:11 1/4; Nann, 2:11 1/4; Toza Astellon, 2:14 1/4, and Clayo.

MANY BASEBALL PLAYS

Are Pulled Unknown to
the Spectators

All that the spectator sees of any ball game is what occurs on the diamond and the coaching lines. He watches the attack and defense as he sees them unfolded before him, but he only sees half of the game. The other half is being played on the benches of the home and visiting teams, where rival managers are trying to outwit each other.

Spectators who occupied seats in the grand stand on the National league circuit have often noticed Hans Wagner arise from a seat near the end of the Pirate bench while the home team is at bat and go over to sit beside Fred Clarke. Many times the manager and his chief lieutenant are exchanging views on the best method of procedure. Every manager has two or three players in whom he places great dependence and to whom he often listens for advice during contests. Philipppo and Leach are two players who have passed from the Pirate ranks who were of great aid to Clarke in this respect. Larry Doyle is McGraw's chief aid, Johnny Evers and Joe Tinker were Frank Chance's helpers. Miller

Huggins helped Roger Bresnahan, and so it goes on every team.

Mike Donlin paid John McGraw a high compliment—though it was unintentional—when the Pirates were playing at the Polo grounds last July. He was "joshing" Larry Doyle as they passed on the field. "You fellows have to have some one on the bench to do your thinking for you," shouted Mike. That was true, but the "thinking part" is more than half of the manager's task, and it is the most difficult part, for he is matching thoughts, wits, brain with another man on the opposite bench.

The lightning quickness with which a manager must sometimes make his plans may be judged from the rapidity with which the play changes on the diamond. In planning the attack or the defense the "breaks" again enter into the situation. If a team is playing in good luck, as most teams do during a winning streak, the task of the manager is rendered much easier, because everything he tries turns out just right. On the other hand, his job is a most discouraging one when the team is in the throes of a slump and when everything has a tendency to turn out just opposite to his plans. It is at times like this that the mettle of a leader is tested and when he most feels the strain.

While on the subject of slumps, a well known man recently declared that the much discussed and much detested condition in which every ball team finds itself once or oftener during every season is the result of brain fatigue.

"A slump in baseball usually follows a winning streak," said this man, "because the players are working under a terrific strain. They do not feel it until something happens to go wrong. It is just like worry in an individual. One feels no nervous strain when everything is going smoothly, but when a mishap occurs the strain begins to assert itself. Things which were easy before are difficult now. It is the same with ball players."

Latest English Sensation

The sensation of the London athletic season occurred recently when W. H. Applegarth created a new world's record of 19 2-5 seconds for 200 yards at Kennington oval. This, of course, is easily the best time ever accomplished at this distance in England, but it is probable that R. C. Craig was putting up an equally good performance when he created his two records at 21 1-5 seconds for 220 yards. Craig, of course, was not at 200 yards, and

L'U. G. N. Independant Held a Parade, Blessing of Banner and Whist Yesterday

A very pretty ceremony was held yesterday morning at St. Joseph's church, in Lee street, when the banner of L'Union Garin National Independante was blessed. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion, and the congregation almost taxed its seating capacity. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Charles Audibert, O. M. I., and he also delivered an appropriate sermon.

The event was in connection with the fifth anniversary of the founding of the union and closed in the evening with a largely attended whist at Grafton hall. At 9 o'clock in the forenoon the members of the union and several other fraternal orders met at C. M. A. C. hall in Pawtucket street and formed in line, the order being as follows: A. C. Gaudet, Capt. Arthur L. Lamoureux, Garde Contonence, Capt. Albert Bergeron, Garde d'Honneur, Jacques-Cartier, Capt. Alfred Grenier, La Societe St. Jean Baptiste, Branch Pawtucketville, A. C. P. Courie St. Antoine and St. Paul, C. O. P. Union Samuel de Champlain, P. L. A. Union St. Jean Baptiste d'Amelique and L'Union Garin Nationale Independante. The banner, an artistic piece of work, bearing a fine portrait of the late Rev. Andre M. Garin, O. M. I.,

after whom the union was named, was carried by Messrs. Etienne Raymond, Joseph Grandbois and David Rainville. The procession wound its way to St. Joseph's church, where at 10 o'clock high mass was celebrated by the chaplain of the union, Rev. Charles Audibert, O. M. I., who also spoke interestingly. The choir was under the direction of Mr. Frank Gaudet and it rendered the Missa Royale in Gregorian chant, Mrs. Joseph A. Bernard presiding at the organ. The soloists were: J. J. Z. Robillard, Telesphore Mabo, Hermenegilde Marlin, Arthur Lavale and Edmond Lambert. At the offertory Mr. Gaudet rendered in fine voice L'ambillotte "Ave Maria." The banner was blessed before the mass and during the service it occupied a place in the sanctuary.

In the evening the members of the union and their many friends met in Grafton hall in Merrimack street and enjoyed a game of whist, suitable prizes being awarded the winners at the close of the contest. This was followed by a very interesting and enjoyable musical program.

FINE ENTERTAINMENT

Enjoyed by Large Audience at the Sacred Heart School Hall Wednesday Evening

A delightful concert by the Musketquad club was given in the Sacred Heart school hall Wednesday evening. The hall was literally packed and all present enjoyed the evening's festivities.

It opened with a regular minstrel overture, Miss May G. Brown officiating as soloist. Miss Kathleen M. Jennings sang the Test number, "Good-Bye," and won much applause. Mr. John Shanley obliged with "Who Puts Me in My Little Bed," Miss Anna Murphy followed with "Mother Mac-Charles," and George A. Deserwin sang "Till the Sands of the Desert Grow Cold." The concluding number was "I Want a Regular Man," Miss Margaret M. McQuillan giving it cleverly. She was assisted by "Waver," Brown and Joseph McQuillan, John W. Healey was the accompanist.

In the chorus were the following: Misses Brown, Sharkey, Jennings, McQuillan, O'Donnell, Flynn, H. Spencer, J. Spencer, Clark, Shanley, Murphy, Kneafsey, Ashworth, O'Hare, Goss, Meeley and Ryan and Messrs. Kirwin, Finlay, Flinnegan, Healy, W. Brown, Lynch, Frederick McGuire, Ohlson, Duggan, Bassett, J. Doyle, Freeman, Gibson, Mullen, Bruderrick, McGinnis, T. Doyle, McDusser, Shanley and T. Brown.

After the minstrel overture dancing was in order, with music furnished by the local ladies' orchestra.

Tables were located around the hall and all were well patronized. They were in charge of the following:

Andy table: Lilla Holden, matron; Anna Craig, May Cowell, Mary Burns, Nellie Murphy, Anna Bradley, Gertrude Ward and Elizabeth McLean, of the Children of Mary sodality.

Tonic and benediction: Martha Kivlan, Marguerite Blackburn, Margaret Connolly, Josephine Lynch and Lucy Shawkey, of the Holy Angels sodality.

Breadthmen: Mrs. Maria Doherty, Mrs. Eugene Flynn, Mrs. Patrick Gaudin, Mrs. Hans Bakke, Mrs. William Burrows, Mrs. Stephen Brennan, Mrs. Eugene Sullivan and Mrs. Patrick Routine of the Holy Trinity sodality.

Very Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. I., Rev. John P. Flynn, O. M. I., Rev. Bernard Fletcher, O. M. I., Rev. James McDermott, O. M. I., and Rev. T. Franklin Wood, O. M. I., of the Sacred Heart parish and Rev. Francis X. McGinnis, O. M. I., and Rev. John M. O'Brien, O. M. I., of Newbury novitate were present during the evening.

LAWYER PATRICK GETS PARDON

He Was Convicted of Murder of William M. Rice—Death Sentence Commuted in 1906

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 29.—Albert T. Patrick, who is serving a life sentence in Sing Sing prison for the murder of William Marsh Rice, an aged millionaire, in New York city, on Sept. 23, 1906, was pardoned Wednesday night by Gov. Dix.

Patrick, who was saved from the electric chair by the late Gov. Higgins, in December, 1906, has made a remarkable flight for freedom.

A lawyer by profession, he protested when Gov. Higgins commuted the death sentence to life imprisonment, declaring that the governor had no legal right to cancel the original sentence and impose a punishment of life imprisonment.

Gov. Dix announced that he had pardoned Patrick just as he was about to leave the capitol for the executive mansion.

"There has always been an air of mystery in this instant case," he said. "Quoting from the minority opinion, the atmosphere that surrounded the defendant showed that a fair and impartial trial was scarcely possible."

"I trust that Mr. Patrick will devote his energies to a complete vindication of his declared innocence."

"During the past year I have given much consideration to this case and am convinced that the defendant is entitled to a full pardon."

Gov. Dix said Col. Joseph F. Scott, superintendent of state prisons, was among those who recommended Patrick's pardon. He had received letters, he said, from scores of prominent citizens in Patrick's behalf, but he declined to say who the writers were.

After the governor signed the pardon an attaché of the executive department dropped the document into the local postoffice last night in an envelope addressed to Warden John S. Kennedy of Sing Sing.

May Claim Rice Millions

It is said that Patrick plans to leave for St. Louis, the home of John T. Milliken, his brother-in-law, but may return later as a claimant for the millions left by the aged man with whose murder he was charged. Mr. Milliken aided Patrick in his fight for freedom, and it is reported will assist him in his efforts to prove his innocence.

In saving Patrick from the death chair in 1906, Gov. Higgins gave these reasons:

"It is not claimed that Patrick committed the murder in person, but that he procured the act to be done. He has been convicted principally upon the testimony of Charles E. Jones, who confessed that he murdered his master while he lay asleep, instigated by Patrick, and Jones by this testimony has purchased his own immunity from trial or punishment. Neither this fact alone, nor the review of any question of fact already passed upon by the courts at some stage of these proceedings, would seem to me to warrant interfering with the judgment of death pronounced against the defendant; but three of the seven judges of the court of appeals were so strongly of the opinion that errors were committed at the trial which were substantially prejudicial to the rights of Patrick, that I feel that the death penalty, under the circumstances, ought not to be inflicted."

It was to the opinion of the minority of the court of appeals, that Gov. Dix referred in his statement Wednesday night as to his reasons for pardoning Patrick.

HOT BATHS FOR BEAUTY

Are Favored in All Kinds of Weather

Two women who had not met for some time were standing in the street discussing their relative looks.

"Goodness, how young you look! How do you manage it?"

"I bathe every day. Boiling, mind you!"

"In all kinds of weather, too?"

And then the speaker ventured the opinion that hot baths were bad for the heart, weakening the organ that is not up to the normal point. So they are, admitted the first woman, but as her own heart was strong she had no fear of the hot bath.

Both women were about the same age, forty-four, but the devotee of the hot bath seemed ten years younger than the other.

It would, of course, be wrong to prescribe hot tubs for all the world of women, for there are undoubtedly conditions when they would be harmful. But daily tubbing in water of some temperature or other is required for looks and health, and if the heart is in good condition the benefit of the hot bath is undeniable.

Some medical facts concerning the hot bath give illuminating information. The hot bath facilitates and stimulates the natural combustion processes of the body. The cold bath to produce the same effect uses up just four times the amount of energy.

The cold bath is not sufficiently cleansing for the health of the skin, and when there is a disposition to skin troubles the chilly water tends to increase them. Then the process called hardening, which consists in submitting one's system to the shock of cold plunges, is now thought to be the worst thing in the world for any but the most vigorous constitutions.

When there is no convenience for the daily plunge it is possible to secure much of the same benefit with a basin bath. The needed thing is to open the pores of the skin and cleanse it of daily wastes by the free use of soap and water and brisk friction. A complete sponge taken in this way every morning will keep the skin in sweet, wholesome condition. A little aromatic tincture of some kind in the basin bath will add much to its refreshing power, and for this purpose benzoin is excellent, being bleaching as well as invigorating.

It was to the opinion of the minority of the court of appeals, that Gov. Dix referred in his statement Wednesday night as to his reasons for pardoning Patrick.

May Claim Rice Millions

It is said that Patrick plans to leave for St. Louis, the home of John T. Milliken, his brother-in-law, but may return later as a claimant for the millions left by the aged man with whose murder he was charged. Mr. Milliken aided Patrick in his fight for freedom, and it is reported will assist him in his efforts to prove his innocence.

In saving Patrick from the death chair in 1906, Gov. Higgins gave these reasons:

"It is not claimed that Patrick committed the murder in person, but that he procured the act to be done. He has been convicted principally upon the testimony of Charles E. Jones, who confessed that he murdered his master while he lay asleep, instigated by Patrick, and Jones by this testimony has purchased his own immunity from trial or punishment. Neither this fact alone, nor the review of any question of fact already passed upon by the courts at some stage of these proceedings, would seem to me to warrant interfering with the judgment of death pronounced against the defendant; but three of the seven judges of the court of appeals were so strongly of the opinion that errors were committed at the trial which were substantially prejudicial to the rights of Patrick, that I feel that the death penalty, under the circumstances, ought not to be inflicted."

It was to the opinion of the minority of the court of appeals, that Gov. Dix referred in his statement Wednesday night as to his reasons for pardoning Patrick.

"During the past year I have given much consideration to this case and am convinced that the defendant is entitled to a full pardon."

Gov. Dix said Col. Joseph F. Scott, superintendent of state prisons, was among those who recommended Patrick's pardon. He had received letters, he said, from scores of prominent citizens in Patrick's behalf, but he declined to say who the writers were.

After the governor signed the pardon an attaché of the executive department dropped the document into the local postoffice last night in an envelope addressed to Warden John S. Kennedy of Sing Sing.

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS

Suggestions on What to Give "Him"

Christmas gifts for men are the ones which usually cause the deepest thought. For men of the family one can select the personal gift, remembering weaknesses for silken hose and scarfs of varied hues. For the man friend the intimate gift must be avoided and something impersonal substituted.

For the college man or the man away from home, adorning in one room or a suite of rooms, something that will add beauty or comfort to those rooms is always a desirable and welcome gift.

A penman is a gift always appreciated by the college man. There are several ways of developing it in leather. Cut the body of the penman out of leather, using the suede side as the right side. The letters can also be cut from leather of the same or contrasting shade, using the glue finish for the right side of the letters. Pin the letters in place and stitch by machine. For the very modest man who does not wish even his college to be too conspicuous in announcing itself the letters forming the name can be simply done in stitching upon the body of the penman, using self tone or contrasting silk thread. Follow the outline of each letter in single or double line stitching. As a result the penman possesses quiet dignity. Ribbon can also be used for lettering and stitched into place.

In selecting letters adopt the style to the preference of the recipient and the character of the penman. Block letters with square, straight lines are always good and easier to manage on the machine than the more ornate letters.

A stencil pattern can be designed and the letters so applied.

A thoughtful gift for the invalid or man who travels is a portable head rest. This is made entirely of leather. It is small and rectangular and made on the style of a baby's pillow cover, with its opening across the center of the back into which to slip the down cushion, the inflated rubber cushion or the cushion of pine needles.

Leather fringes very attractive, and cold fringes makes charming, tasseled ornaments for the corners of cushions and the like.

To Freshen Cake

To freshen stale cake dip it for a second or two in cold milk and then rebake it in a rather cool oven. It will taste almost like new again.

One's sponge should be cleaned frequently to keep it in good condition. An effective way of washing it is with warm water in which a little tartaric acid or a spoonful of soda has been dissolved. It should be rinsed in clean warm water.

CHILDREN NEED SLEEP

Mothers Should Allow Them More Rest

The mother who has a child at school may not be able to help him with his lessons, for the modern system of teaching rather depreciates home assistance. For men of the family one can select the personal gift, remembering weaknesses for silken hose and scarfs of varied hues. SOLD DEER FOR TEN DOLLARS

But the Sale Netted the Court
$20 When Huntsman Was
Fined This Morning

The police court treasury was just $58 richer at the conclusion of the police court session this morning. This amount was made up by three $20 sales, together with a contribution of $8 and another of $2. There were present several who had indulged in too enthusiastic a celebration of the Thanksgiving holiday and the law placed the finishing touch upon their festivities.

Dear Hunting For Deer

Warren D. Caldwell of Tewksbury is apparently a huntsman. One deer shot by him was sold for $20. Warren is also a special officer or constable in the town and up to this morning has always given himself credit for a pretty fair knowledge of the law. However, every one, even constables and special officers are liable to make mistakes and that is exactly what happened to the gentleman in question when, as the charge read, he sold the deer to a Mr. Kingsbury.

Mr. Caldwell was alleged to have violated the law which prohibits the selling of deer shot in Massachusetts and he nodded assent to the charge. Deputy Fish and Game Warden Walter Larkin, who figured strongly in bringing the man to justice was placed upon the stand and testified that he had some conversation a few days ago in regard to the killing of the deer. "He pulled out his coat," said the witness, "and showed me a constable's badge pinned on his vest. I said I did not care if he had then pinned all over him, the law was just the same." George W. Piper, another fish and game officer, seconded the other's testimony. The deer, he said had been sold for ten dollars.

Very Troublesome Youths

A charge of obstructing the streets was read against two young boys, Frank Boyle and Thomas Allen and both pleaded not guilty. Officer Bagley testified that the youngsters were "hanging around" the corner of Adams and Cross streets on Saturday night last and furthermore that they caused a great deal of annoyance to passersby. Several women, so the officer stated, were forced to wait out in the road to avoid the loiterers and that many complaints had been handed to him in this regard. The officer stated that his best known pair for about nine months and that nearly every night at that time they had been found hanging about that corner. They used exceedingly bad language, he said, and when he chased them away, it was found that they had been expectorating freely upon the sidewalk.

Asked if they wished to put any questions to the officers, the boys replied that they so desired. One of them then arose and opened the cross-examination for the defense. They seemed not to understand just what a question is and several times had to be stopped and set on the right track when they made contradictory statements and attempted to engage in an argument.

Officer Goggin was the next witness and he told a story similar to that of the preceding witnesses. He, too, underwent a cross-examination at the hands of the alleged offenders. In fact Officer Goggin was the only one of the witnesses who engaged the questions and during his time on the stand it seemed that the youths had paused to think up new riddles.

Mr. Joseph Fay had a long and interesting yarn. Mr. Fay, according to his story, had been having a tough time with the young men of late, and he said that they had been causing considerable damage to his property in that vicinity. After a long and earnest discourse he left the stand and was called back to reply to a few questions which the alleged culprits had thought of in the meantime.

Evidently the judge determined to put an end to this loitering. The boys ended on the stand, that they hung around there as much as was charged. "I have seen you there," said Judge Enright, "and I drove you away." This was a poser for the two and they had no answer. They were fined $20 apiece.

Culinary Warfare

Daniel E. Doherty was charged with smashing dishes, demolishing the furniture, and generally disarranging things while on one grand drunk last night. In reply he said, "Oh, I was just a little drunk, that is all." Evidently many, upon hearing the testimony against the man, thought that if that was merely a little drunk, they would prefer not to see him in the enjoyment of a real healthy tear unless alone in a ten acre lot. Officer Lee, who made the arrest, testified to this effect and he told the story given above. He said that the man had been giving to such rough-house and that he used his wife roughly also. This the man denied. The prisoner has a good job and earns about $18 per week. He was given a sentence of four months in the house of correction and this was suspended for six months.

John's Last Grown

A man named John J. Devine, otherwise familiarly called as "Shorty" was in court this morning for what was said to be his 67th time. John made a little speech on the stand or rather started to and was interrupted by the court. He was sentenced to the state farm and that was suspended with the understanding that he change his present abode which the judge said was not a good place for him to be.

They Oiled Up Too Freely
William F. Coran paid $6 for a second offense of drunkenness. Michael Sayers, who was surrendered by the probation officer was sentenced to the state farm. There was one two dollar assessment.

JUMPED TO HIS DEATH

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Three waiters sleeping in the fourth story of the Hotelworkers' union building on West 31st street had to jump for their lives early today when they were awakened by fire. Two of them landed safely on the fire escape, a story below, but the third overbalanced the iron gallery, pitched the whole four stories to the ground and was killed. The fire did comparatively slight damage.

At the Mandot-Rivers Bout in Los Angeles—Mandots Manager, Wants a Return Match to be Staged Feb. 22

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22.—The receipts from the Mandot-Rivers fight last night were $19,623. What each fighter received was not made public. Manager Harry Coleman, in behalf of Mandot, has asked for a return match for February 22 in the event that Rivers could not obtain a match with Rivers, the new champion of the lightweight. Rivers expressed his willingness to grant a return match.

GIANT BIRD

Parts of Creature That Flow Over North American 3,000,000 Years Ago on Exhibition

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Parts of a giant bird, which winged its way over North America three million years ago have just been brought to the museum of natural history by Prof. Walter Granger, who has been making fossil investigations in Wyoming. The bird, according to Prof. Granger, was the largest feathered creature that ever existed in North America. The fragments brought here consist of the bones of the feet, found in the Big Horn basin.

License Was Granted

At a hearing held by the license commissioners of this city Wednesday afternoon George H. Crook, Jr., was granted a license to conduct a billiard and pool room on Middlesex street. The remonstrant, John R. Cummings, withdrew his objection, saying that the matter had been satisfactorily adjusted between Mr. Crook and himself.

GROWS BEAUTIFUL, HEAVY HAIR, WE PROVE IT—25 CENT "DANDERINE"

Destroys dandruff—Stops falling hair—Cleans and invigorates your scalp.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair: soft, lustrous, fluffy—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower; destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once. If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

ORPHANS AND INMATES DINED

All Local Institutions Provided
Excellent Thanksgiving Menus
for Their Charges

Never was a crowd of youngsters so happy as the little ones at the St. Peter's orphanage were yesterday. Of course there was a reason for the little orphans, who number 73, were so happily treated, thanks to two clergymen and a number of friends of the institution and also to the sisters in charge, who did practically all they could to make the children happy, and their efforts were well repaid.

The day was spent in a most jovial way, and the little girls almost made themselves sick from eating, for outside of a first class turkey dinner, including all the fixings, pie cake, ice cream and candies were served. The dinner was served at 12 o'clock and the festive board with the little ones seated around it presented a most picturesque scene. The sisters were on hand as were a few friends, and all greatly helped the children to make their little hearts happy by serving them with goodies.

At the conclusion of the repast-ice cream was served and then there were some more good things coming in the line of fancy candy which was donated by Cameron Bros. When all appetites were satisfied, an entertainment program was rendered by the children under the direction of the sisters. The numbers consisted of instrumental and vocal selections and recitations, and the "artists" were warmly applauded.

The turkeys for the dinner were donated by two reverend gentlemen, friends of the institution, while other goodies were provided for by other friends. Tomorrow will be donation day at the orphanage, the event to be conducted by the members of St. Elizabeth's guild, who already have done considerable for the institution. All gifts will be accepted with thanks.

French American Orphanage
The little people of the French American orphanage in Pawtucket street were given an entire holiday yesterday, that is, there was no class session, and all the boys and girls gathered in the main building, where in the forenoon

HIGH LIVING AND POOR NOURISHMENT

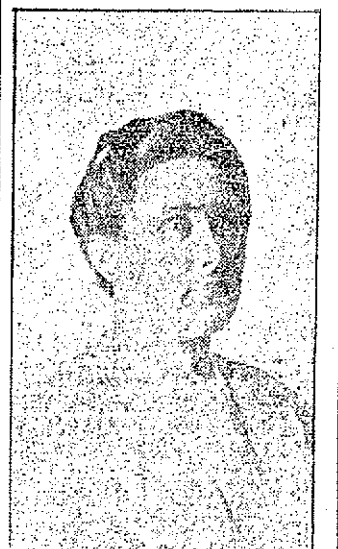

When your food does not nourish you, the blood is thin and impure. Unless the blood is pure, assimilation, the final step of digestion, is imperfectly done and the body poorly nourished. Every day instances of lack of nourishment because of thin or impure blood are seen in children, who eat almost continually yet do not grow; in convalescents from the grip, fever, or some other serious disease, who remain pale, weak and debilitated; in persons who are run down through overwork or worry and are unable to get back their strength.

Before the body can be properly nourished, the blood must first be cleansed, built up and made fit to work. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People will do this more quickly and effectively than any other medicine. They contain the very elements which the thin blood lacks. Not only do they strengthen the stomach but they build up the blood so that it gets full nourishment from the food.

Mrs. Jennie Temple, of No. 106 North Main street, Fond du Lac, Wis., says: "I was a great sufferer from stomach trouble, caused by overwork, for about two years. My appetite was very poor and I could not eat much of anything. No matter what I ate, my stomach became sour and gas would form on it, causing shortness of breath and affecting my heart. I had to diet and eat only the lightest food. For months I did not know what a good night's rest meant. I had frequent dizzy spells and would faint at the least exertion. My head ached almost continually and my heart action was slow and irregular. I was weak and thin and in every way was extremely wretched."

"I had begun to despair of getting well until I gave Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. Before I had taken the pills a month I felt much better, both mentally and physically. My nerves became stronger, my heart action was more steady and the distressing symptoms were lessened. My appetite increased and I soon became well and strong. Since using the pills I have regained my weight. I can truthfully say that I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the very best medicine any person suffering as I did, can take."

MISS CORRINE HEROUX
Who Provided Entertainment at French Am. Orphanage

they were entertained by the members of Notre Dame de Lourdes' sodality of St. Joseph's parish, who tendered them a candy party. Miss Corrine Heroux had charge of the arrangements, and that is sufficient to know that the affair was a success.

The 34 girls and 3 boys of the institution were made happy all day. At the close of the candy party they were given a fine turkey dinner, which was supplied by members of the parish, and after a brief entertainment program which they carried out in a very satisfactory manner, they were all taken to St. Joseph's college hall, where they were special guests at the presentation of "Germania" Gossin, a comedy given by several young women of the parish. The children greatly enjoyed the program and some of them this morning said they never enjoyed such a fine Thanksgiving day.

Chelmford Street Hospital
Fresh pork killed on the spot was the menu of the Chelmford street hospital yesterday, and much of it was consumed by the 185 inmates of the institution, who also spent a very pleasant day. On the occasion of Thanksgiving the dinner and supper bill of fare is changed and although there was a slight shortage of food at the hospital, the change is well received.

The menu for the noon meal consisted of the following: Roast pork, mashed potatoes, squash, tea and bread, while at the evening meal rolled oats, pie, bread and butter and cheese were served.

Several fat pigs were slaughtered on the farm at the beginning of the week purposely to give the inmates a treat and be it said that Superintendent Dwyer, who also spent a very pleasant day, for the rich pork produced on the farm. In the afternoon although there was no formal program, all enjoyed themselves by listening to musical numbers and recitations well rendered by officials of the institution and a number of the inmates.

Lowell Jail
The inmates of the Lowell jail were given a real treat yesterday in observance of Thanksgiving day, when their menu was made richer, a thing which occurs only a few times during the year, at Christmas, Thanksgiving and Easter. The victims of adversity were also given the freedom of the

The Fate of Constantinople Holds the World's Interest

Upper—Review of troops in Constantinople. Center—Boat loaded with Turkish troops. Lower—Turks reading war bulletins.

Whether, when the tumult of war has died down, Constantinople shall be left in the hands of the Turks, shall be handed over to one of the nationalities which have battled their way to its gates or shall be ruled by a commission of the powers is one of the principal vexed questions arising out of the Turkish-Balkan war. It is a question that has before the present time set the great powers of Europe by the ears. So much depends upon its proper settlement for all times that it should not and cannot be regarded lightly.

To begin with, Constantinople is one of the very large cities of the world. Its population is well over a million, of whom about two-thirds are Mohammedans. The remainder are divided among a great number of nationalities. For Constantinople is probably the most cosmopolitan of the earth's cities. There are gathered men and women from every far and near corner of the earth. In the second place, the city has been of great commercial importance in the past and may be rehabilitated under progressive, civilizing rule. It sits at "the receipt of customs" for the east and west and should take toll from the caravan of the orient as well as from the freight train of the occident. Thirdly, it is a city of ancient history and tradition and the object of veneration and desire on the part of many nationalities.

Europe shuddered when Constantinople fell into the hands of the Turk on May 29, 1453. Its submission to Mohammed II. marked the extinction of the Roman empire, which had ruled the world. Centuries before Rome itself had fallen prey to the barbarian. Constantinople, anciently Byzantium, held out until weakened by internal dissension and religious fanaticism. It could resist no longer the onslaughts of the invaders from Asia Minor and the plains of Tartary who had established themselves in Europe long before. From that time until the capture of the Ottoman empire, the seat of the temporal and spiritual authority of the sultan.

Those who would read in full the interesting story of Constantinople from the time of its founding under its present name by Constantine the Great, in the 330, until its capture by the Turks, and referred to Gibbon's "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire." The story of the capture of the city and the heroic struggle made in its defense is well told in the historical novel, "The Prince of India" by the late General Lew Wallace, author of "Ben-Hur."

The final successful siege which transformed Constantinople into the seat of the sultan was not the only one endured by the city or the Golden Horn. No other spot on earth has seen corridors, while the men folk were allowed to smoke to their hearts' content.

There was no special entertainment, but the inmates of the institution gathered in groups in the corridors and enjoyed the afternoon in story telling, while occasionally one would sing, and thus the day went by, all feeling in the best of mood and happy. Roast pork in large quantities, served for dinner, with the dish that usually goes with such food. Mince pie and fruit were also contained on the bill of fare and Thanksgiving day, 1911, will never be forgotten by the inmates who shared their sorrows on this day at the Lowell jail.

At the Ayer Home
One of the pleasantest Thanksgivings in many years was enjoyed yesterday by the children of the Ayer home. The program consisted of many pleasant features, topped off by a beautiful Thanksgiving dinner. In the morning games were played by all of the children and at noon they sat down to tables loaded with food of all sorts and varieties. The dinner consisted of turkey, chicken, vegetables, fruit and pies. At 6 o'clock they were all given a treat by the mother, Mrs. E. J. Tarr, which consisted of the evening games were played and dancing enjoyed. The music for the dancing was furnished by one of the girls who is a talented musician. She played a number of tunes on the harmonium.

The party broke up at a late hour, all of the children giving cheer for the mother, Mrs. E. J. Tarr, as the daughter, and pronouncing it as the best Thanksgiving ever.

The mother, Mrs. E. J. Tarr, is accomplishing a great work at the home under the supervision of Mr. Ayer. There are over 100 housed there.

Rivers and Harbors Congress Dec. 4--6

MAYOR O'DONNELL AND OTHER LOWELL MEN TO GO

This Convention of Interest to Many and Affords Chance For Pleasant Trip to Capital

Following is the letter which was recently received by Secretary Murphy of the local trade board and which is being sent to the headquarters of the boards of trade of the cities of the Merrimack Valley. The matter is in regard to the waterways convention which is to be held at Washington, which is known as the national rivers and harbors congress.

A number of local business men have signified their interest in the matter and several have determined to attend the congress. One of the delegates representing Lowell at this congress and it is thought that quite a number will take advantage of this opportunity for a trip to Washington and a chance to give evidence of their interest in the development of the Massachusetts waterways. The letter:

Nov. 22, 1912.

Dear Sir:

Are you sufficiently interested in the development of the waterways in Massachusetts to attend the national rivers and harbors congress in Washington, Dec. 4 to 6?

Will you join the delegation going under the auspices of the Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange?

AWARDED THE CONTRACT

Architect Henry Rourke Will Make Plans

FOR THE REBUILDING OF ST. JEAN BAPTISTE CHURCH

Work of Clearing the Debris Will Start Next Week—Many Changes in Construction

St. Jean Baptiste church will be rebuilt pretty soon, for the first steps toward reconstructing the burned temple were taken this morning, when Rev. Henri Watelle, O. M. I., pastor of the parish, after a lengthy interview with Architect Henry L. Rourke, awarded him the contract for the plans and also for all the work which is to be done in connection with the building. Mr. Rourke will immediately start on his work and when the plans are accepted he will give out the contracts for the construction of the building.

Contractor J. B. Morfin, however, has been detailed to clean the church of the debris and also to build a temporary roof over the floor of the higher part of the church in order to make the necessary alterations in the lower church in the quickest time possible and have it ready for worship in a few weeks. The contractor will first start to remove the trusses which are suspended on the roof of the church and which are a menace to anyone who would attempt to work inside or venture inside the building.

Rev. Fr. Watelle in conversation with the writer this noon stated that he had placed the entire job in the hands of Architect Rourke, the latter to submit his plans within three or four weeks. He said the plans will carry a number of changes, as the roof will be of steel and also that the arch which extends from the lower church to the roof of the building and which is constructed of lime stone will be demolished and a smaller arch of steel will be set in. The outside walls with the exception of that portion facing Moody street will remain as they are. The latter will be changed some as it is badly wrecked. The gallery in the upper church will be lowered and a few changes in the decorations of the interior of the temple will be made.

In the lower church, the plaster ceiling will be torn down and a metal ceiling will be installed. The gas pipes in the ceiling will be retained, but that method of lighting will not be used only in case of emergency, as the lights are to be installed all over the building.

The insurance claims, it is expected, will be settled as soon as the experts who have looked the ruins over will meet in Boston on that day and finish their business, unless some complications arise. Also at the beginning of the week men will be put to work on tearing down the plaster walls and taking down the trusses in the upper church. It is believed the lower church will be ready for worship within a few weeks, for as soon as the temporary roof is set in work will be started down stairs and hurried along. Fr. Watelle is to confer with Commissioner Barrett on his suggestion of dry pipes between the walls of a large building, and see if the thing is feasible.

Good time, Highland hall, tonight.

TEACHING OF PATRIOTISM

Amendment to State Constitution Making it Compulsory in the Public Schools Passed

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 21.—An amendment to the state constitution making the teaching of patriotism in the public schools compulsory, was recommended yesterday by the Utah Teachers' association. There was opposition to the resolution presented by D. H. Christens, superintendent of the Salt Lake City schools, and the resolution was carried by a small majority. Interest in the subject grew out of the expulsion from the Salt Lake City schools of two little girls who declared themselves socialists, and refused to take part in the flag saluting exercises.

LOCAL CLERGYMEN KEPT BUSY

More Than Score of Marriages in This City Wednesday Night and Yesterday

Cupid was at his best Wednesday and yesterday, for over a score of weddings took place in this city in the course of the two days. Clergymen all over the city were kept busy tying the knots, while the ceremonies in most instances were followed by receptions and good observance of Thanksgiving day. November is generally a good month for marriages, but this year it is figured there were more couples united in the bonds of matrimony during Thanksgiving week than at any other time during the other 12 months, the month of June counted in.

SMALL-HOLSTEIN
Mr. Walter Small and Miss Flora Holstein, two popular young residents of this city were united in marriage Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Holstein, in Robinson street, the ceremony being performed by Rev. George W. Wright. The bride was attended by Miss Florence May Gouley and the best man was Mr. Arthur Holstein, brother of the bride. At 7:30 o'clock Miss Josie Pearson played the wedding march and the bridal party marched from the reception room into the parlor which was beautifully decorated for the occasion. Streamers were suspended from the sides of the room to the center chandelier, where they were caught up in a large bell. Potted plants and ferns were artistically located around the room and these with the beautiful gown of the bride and bridesmaid, presented a pretty spectacle. The bride wore white messaline with chiffon overdress and a large plumed hat. She carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums, the latter a gift of her uncle, Mr. Thomas Poole of Kentucky. The flowers were very large and beautiful. The bridesmaid was attired in pink messaline, with chiffon overdress and also wore a plumed hat. She carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums. After the ceremony a reception was held at which there was a very large attendance. The happy couple were showered with congratulations and best wishes of all assembled. A wedding supper was served, after which a musical program was carried out. The couple were the recipients of many gifts, the latter being on exhibition in a large room upstairs. Gifts were received from Webster, and Boston, Mass., Wickford, R. I. and several other places. Mr. and Mrs. Small departed later in the evening and after visiting Boston and New York will be at home to their friends after January 1. They will reside in Robinson street.

MURPHY-TUCKER
A pretty wedding ceremony took place at St. John's parsonage, North Chelmsford, Wednesday afternoon, the contracting parties being Miss Bertha C. Tucker of North Chelmsford and Edward P. Murphy of Lowell. Rev. Fr. Schofield performed the nuptial ceremony. The bridesmaid was Miss Mary Tucker, sister of the bride, and the best man was Robert Murphy. The bride was beautifully gowned in white silk batiste, with lace trimmings, and carried white chrysanthemums. Miss Mary Tucker wore pink silk muslin and carried pink chrysanthemums. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Tucker, on Brouillette street, followed by a supper, after which the happy couple left for Boston on their honeymoon trip. They will be spending visiting relatives of the bridegroom in Providence, R. I. After their return, Mr. and Mrs. Murphy will take up their residence at 17 Chapel street, Lowell, where they will be home to their friends after January 1.

SUTCLIFFE-MCKINNON
At St. Patrick's church Wednesday afternoon the marriage of Mr. James P. Sutcliffe and Miss Jessie F. McKinnon was solemnized by Rev. Joseph Curtin. The bride wore a gown of white embroidered silk batiste. She was attended by Miss Margaret E. Lyons, who wore a gown of blue silk. The best man was Mr. Albert Sutcliffe, a brother of the bridegroom. A wedding reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. W. P. Lyons, of 43 Broad street. During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Sutcliffe left on their wedding trip during which they will visit a sister of the bride, Mrs. John P. Ryan of Troy, N. Y., formerly Miss Kittie McKinnon, of this city. On their return they will be at home to their friends, after Jan. 1, at 114 Rock street.

MURPHY-TUCKER
Miss Emmeline G. Tuck, formerly of this city, but now of Boston, was united in marriage to Mr. Orville J. Bryant of Des Moines, Iowa, in the rectory of the cathedral of the Holy Cross, Boston, on Wednesday evening by Rev. Fr. Nod Cronin. Miss Harriette Tuck, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Mr. William Tuck, a cousin of the bride, was best man. The bride wore a gown of white messaline with a point Venice overdress and a picture hat and carried white chrysanthemums. The bridesmaid wore Alice blue messaline and a picture hat and carried yellow chrysanthemums. From the bride's side to the bridesmaid was a necklace of gold beads and the groom's gift to the best man was a pair of diamond cuff links. After an extended wedding tour Mr. and Mrs. Bryant will reside in Fall River.

MURPHY-TUCKER
Mr. William Murphy of 22 Greendale avenue and Miss Edith T. Russell of 220 Riverside street were married Thanksgiving night by Rev. Frank G. Alger, pastor of the Pawtucket Congregational church, at his home, 113 Vermont avenue. The bride wore a dark blue traveling gown and a white beaver hat. She was attended by Miss Esther Atkinson, a niece of the bridegroom. The best man was Mr. Charles E. Russell, a brother of the bride. After the ceremony a wedding reception was given, at the home of the bridegroom's father, 22 Greendale avenue. On their return from their wedding trip, they will be at home to their friends at 35 Smith street. No cards.

GORMAN-O'MALLEY
At St. Michael's rectory late Wednesday afternoon Mr. Francis J. Gorman and Miss Marjette L. O'Malley were united in the bonds of matrimony, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Francis J. Mullin. The bride was attended by Miss Mary E. Durkin, while the best man was Thomas J. Gorman. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride, 195 Pleasant street, and a large number of their friends were present to offer their congratulations and best wishes. Following the reception, dinner was served. Mr. and Mrs. Gorman left on an early train for their wedding tour and on their return will reside at 195 Pleasant street, Draught where they will be at home to their friends after Jan. 1.

DRAPER-MAYNARD
Mr. Herbert Draper and Miss Nettie Maynard were married Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's brother, Myron Maynard, 65 Norcross street, the officiating clergyman being Rev. J. M. Craig. The bridesmaid was Miss Bessie Blake, while the best man was Charles Hutchins. The ushers were John and Ivy Barrie and Clarence Bacheider. The rooms were attractively decorated in greens, potted

COLD REASON

"CUTS ICE"

In Buying Your Piano

And cold reason used in the buying of your piano is the one thing, and the only thing that "cuts any ice." We don't boom any special piano and don't care what make of piano you buy. We have all makes. We would like you to use your reason in the matter of PRICE; there's where your reasoning powers will "cut ice" for you. You know, without any information from us, which are the best pianos, and you also know that the makers at their gilded stores charge you a big fat, outrageous trust price for their instruments. Now, if you use your cold reason on PRICE, we will save you a hundred or two on the purchase of any known make of piano.

The gilded piano stores, with their costly appointments, their high-salaried sales agents, their sellers' commissions, etc., are no place for the economical piano buyer to go. Take the trouble to look around a little, go up where the rents are not so high and buy your piano right.

I.W.W. SCORED IN LAWRENCE

Cardinal O'Connell and Bishop Lawrence Write Letters—De Courcy and Elder Speak

LAWRENCE, Nov. 29.—The celebration of the citizens today was the culmination of the flag movement and protest against the I. W. W., started before Columbus day. It began early in the morning with the ringing of the

The magnificent parade on Columbus day was a display of reverence for the fourth words of commendation and approval on all sides; and I feel sure that the manifested in the Thanksgiving day celebration, will eliminate the last vestige of the "No God" no master" finds any sympathy in the hearts of the citizens of Lapeer.

Bishop Lawrence's Letter
The letter of Bishop Lawrence read:
"Having in my younger days worked

Angered by Reports

Mr. Elder, in his address, declared that the people of Lawrence had been justly angered by some of the reports sent from their city. He declared that aliens were welcome to this country, but that they must not come here.

"We have the right to demand," said he, "that those who come here into our country should know as well as we that they or some of them, would like to make it. They must come as Americans under our flag, under our law and under our spirit. We make our laws people here. We have no tolerance for anyone who does not obey them."

Judge De Courcy spoke after Mr. Elder, and said in part:

"It is fitting that on this Thanksgiving day we should consider the less fortunate people who have come here to earn their living and become American citizens."

Cardinal O'Connell's letter was addressed to the Rev. James T. O'Reilly, D. S. A., of the committee in charge of the Thanksgiving day celebration. It said:

"I need not assure you that I have lans. Born and bred as they have been under other governments and conditions. They, of course, are ignorant of many of our customs and of the principles of American liberty, but as a whole they have good stuff in them. They are industrious, they are enterprising, and they respond to leadership.

"We who have been here several generations want to join with those who have been here a half generation in building up this republic and our cities. Lawrence is now going at it in the right way, with malice towards none, with charity for all, in the ground, with faces forward and the national flag, representing our national life, calling people to a loyalty to our laws, our institutions, to liberty under the law.

"Taking this attitude, we must all work with patience, learn to respect each other, and stand together in our little groups to do what we can for the other man."

A Successful Dance The Yvonne club held a dancing party in Lincoln hall last evening, and the affair was a success by about 100 couples. Dancing was enjoyed until midnight, a pleasant and popular feature of the evening being several musical numbers. The hall was beautifully decorated, the colors used being pink evening, in the rectory and was largely attended. The affair was in charge of Mrs. John Monahan and she managed it in an admirable manner. The first prize for the gentlemen went to Mr. W. H. Kennedy, the second to Mr. John A. O'Brien of Belmont, and the third to Mr. Thomas Perth. Mr. Thomas Brosnan captured the consolation prize. The next party will be held next Thursday and will be in charge of Mrs. Marshall.

Keith's Theatre Another big musical comedy find has been ferried out by the management of the Keith theatre, for next week. Change Will Lessen Volume of Smoke—Finance Commissioner Issues Monthly Report

The Boston & Maine will use coke, hereafter, instead of soft coal in its shifting engines in this city. This announcement was made at the office of the smoke inspector today and the change has been made in order to lessen the volume of smoke. The railroad company states that the use of coke will be much more expensive than that of coal.

Finance Commissioner's Report The monthly report of the finance commissioner for October has been issued and is, as usual, a most interesting document. Nearly all of the cities were snatched up as fast as they came from the printer, which shows the interest in all issues of the monthly bulletin. The greatest gain was made in the March report, which included in toto the finance report of the Automobile expenses for the month of October showed a drop, the sum total being $11,422, of which $6,227 went for repairs on the cars. The improvement in the police automobile, now out of commission, and which is being repaired by James M. Rantow, cost fifty cents only.

The three department automobiles cost but $23.50.

The month's bill for tobacco amounts to $30, the weed going to the Chelmsford Street hospital. Samuel Scott furnished it.

The cost of paying Church street for the month was $19,975.03. The expenses for the month total $7549. The school department spent $22,500 for books from various publishing houses during the month.

The loans authorized by the municipal council during the first ten months of the year amounted to $285,700, having been borrowed for the proportionate share of this city in the improvement of the Brockton river road. The debt limit on October 31 was $1,615,385.55. The balance of taxes due on November 1st was $119,355.79, including taxes owed from 1882 up to the present time.

NORTH BILLERICA Mr. Francis J. Dewire, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis J. Dewire, of Billerica avenue and Miss Alice Gertrude Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Cox, of Wilson street, were united in marriage Wednesday afternoon at St. Andrew's church by Rev. Edmund J. Cornell, D. M. L. before a large gathering of friends and relatives. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Jennie Cox and the best man was Mr. Joseph McGarvey of Lowell.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of white silk trimmed with lace and a handsome white picture hat and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums. The bridesmaid wore a pink embroidered voile over white muslin. She wore a beautiful pink picture hat and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

The bride's gift to the bridesmaid was a beautiful gold bracelet and the groom's gift to the best man was a solid gold stickpin.

After the wedding ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cornell, where the newly wedded couple were the recipients of many costly and beautiful gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewire left later on an extended wedding tour after which they will reside at 28 Wilson street, North Billerica.

The T. R. and T. dramatic club held an entertainment and dance in the Thos. Talbot Memorial hall Wednesday evening and presented a three-act piece, "Ferguson at the Bar." The affair was for the benefit of the T. R. & T. football club and was a great success both financially and socially. Michael J. Mahoney directed the production of the drama.

A very nice feature of the evening was the entertainment by the "Jolly Youngsters," who put on an original sketch and kept the close attention of the audience between the night. Music was furnished by Broderick's orchestra.

Shortly after ten o'clock dancing was started and continued until mid-

The manager of the affair was J. F. Mullin, manager of the musical club, which, with the musical director and Miss Agnes Collins was pianist. The efforts of the dance were general manager, J. F. Mullin, assistant manager, J. F. Mullin, floor director, Brandon S. Manning, assistant floor director, J. J. O'Brien, chief aid, J. A. Lincoln, aids, A. R. Bull, Ray Eaton, Daniel McGarvey, J. Jenkins, O. T. Allen, W. N. Scott.

A Successful Dance The Yvonne club held a dancing party in Lincoln hall last evening, and the affair was a success by about 100 couples. Dancing was enjoyed until midnight, a pleasant and popular feature of the evening being several musical numbers. The hall was beautifully decorated, the colors used being pink evening, in the rectory and was largely attended. The affair was in charge of Mrs. John Monahan and she managed it in an admirable manner. The first prize for the gentlemen went to Mr. W. H. Kennedy, the second to Mr. John A. O'Brien of Belmont, and the third to Mr. Thomas Perth. Mr. Thomas Brosnan captured the consolation prize. The next party will be held next Thursday and will be in charge of Mrs. Marshall.
